Hello...!

Tonight, my wife and I have been watching a program on PBS's FRONTLINE program entitled Jesus in China: Is Christianity Transforming China?

This was an extremely interesting documentary about the underground Church as contrasted with the "official" state Church in China. It showed actual video footage of the underground Church -- including the places that they have met over the past decade (including caves). It was extremely interesting.

The video shows the persecution of the underground Church -- and how the Communist government is trying to control the true Church while supposedly offering more freedom. The documentary showed how pastors face arrest for preaching -- sometimes in the middle of their sermon!

What made it even more interesting is the fact that FRONTLINE tends to offer a skewed, one-sided and very liberal view on such matters.
