

Devotional Thoughts :: My Lord Jesus

My Lord Jesus - posted by SimpleOne, on: 2009/2/13 23:11

My days are filled with Him. All of my thoughts are wrapped around His perfect will and I continually stand amazed that He would deem me worthy of His love. Whenever I find that He is not at the top of my mind, I run back into His arms weeping at the thought that I could drift away. He is my bright and Morning Star, He is the light upon my path. My heart melts at His touch as I press into Him with all that I am.

Oh the sorrow that comes upon me when I find that I have sinned against Him. Oh the horror of an unkind word that would mar His wonderful name. Each day that passes brings me closer to an eternity to be spent with Him. An eternity that will be void of the sin that mars the surface of so much of His beloved creation.

Eternal Love. Wonderful Saviour. Prince of Peace.

Re: My Lord Jesus, on: 2009/2/14 23:04

... Glorious LORD, You are worthy of no less.