

Devotional Thoughts :: I am His*I am His - posted by SimpleOne, on: 2009/3/1 6:56

My glorious God loves me. I know not why. My heart drifts away towards other things, yet when He awakens me, and I repent, He loves me still.

My heart can hardly bear such precious love. I can not fathom how I ever lived a day without Him. Oh, woe is me, when I consider that I might have spent an eternity without His loving embrace. But now I am for ever His, and He is for ever mine.

Re: I am His - posted by MJones (), on: 2009/3/1 9:18

Quote:

SimpleOne wrote:

My heart drifts away towards other things, yet when He awakens me, and I repent, He loves me still.

We have an enemy that is forever trying to lure us away from the fullness of God, by trying to convince us that we can have God and _____.

He is very good at it. God is always glad when we realize the mistake we have made.

Good word.