

Miracles that follow the plow :: Prayer request

Prayer request - posted by mguldner (), on: 2010/5/7 0:25

I would just like to ask for prayer, this Sunday I am preaching and would appreciate prayer for God's Anointing to fall and that I stay faithful to the Truth and Gospel of Jesus Christ, also some courage would be handy. I will be preaching on the Youth and the up and coming battle that lies ahead and the dangers and evils of Pragmatism that has infiltrated our churches.

God Bless,
Matthew

Go in the spirit of Elijah! I will be holding you up and pray for the ears and hearts to receive what God has for them. Amen and God be glorified.

Thank you all so much for praying for me, I am still preparing and what I have come up with could be dangerous if its not done in Love, my utmost desire is to Love these people. I may even get kicked out of the church for this message if done in a angry and critical spirit and so I am definitely trembling and fearing God on this that I truly get what HE wants to say because I am responsible for every idle word especially in the pulpit. Thank you for praying for courage I feel I am going to need it and may I walk in the Spirit of Jeremiah that a fire would shut up in my bones and I am willing to speak with fire and Love. Thank You again I will tell you all how it goes.

God Bless,

Praying. I look forward to a good report, brother!

So the sermon went well although my mom jokingly called me a long winded preacher because my message was about an hour long. The Holy Spirit was moving there today and I hope to have exposed the Pharisees spirit in our church, my head pastor said after it all to my dad that We have got it upside down and that we probably match more of a Pharisee church. Also my brother in law was there and he told me it was a good job that I spoke the truth no matter what everyone else thought, I have been praying God awaken his heart but sometimes we have to take things one victory at a time and whether or not my message effected him is unknown but I could tell he was listening. I exalted Christ and His church conforming to His image. Thank you all so much for the prayers they were all much appreciated May Christ be Glorified by the seed sown today.

I am going to have to ask for some continual prayer, I was advised that I am to talk to my head pastor about my sermon over matters of what I said mainly the fact that I told the congregation that I was a new Christian and an unsaved youth worker. As expected that didn't settle well with my head pastor but who can judge a man's heart? So if you feel lead to pray for me on this matter that the Holy Spirit would be present in this conversation and that I would clearly answer any questions he has regarding the gospel. Oddly enough I would be happy to get kicked out of the church for the truth of Jesus Christ God has given me peace over that anyways.

God Bless,
