

Devotional Thoughts :: God is near

God is near - posted by MaryJane, on: 2010/11/8 10:06

Thought this was worth sharing here as it was shared with me.

God Bless
mj

He is unlike any other... in His ability to reach into my heart. For it is when my mind is stayed on Jesus, when my eyes look toward eternal things, when my ears listen way beyond the voices of the day, that I begin to see above and beyond my situation and my circumstances to my Savior - His words, His tenderness, His compassion, His ways. The Lord miraculously puts everything into His perspective when my mind and heart are set on all that He is, on all that He's done, on all that He's promised. I become more thankful, I become more hopeful, and most importantly, I am humbled. He lives and His love is never ending. Look, listen, and hear. God is near.