Cables show Ireland irked Vatican on sovereignty (AP)

AP - Newly released U.S. diplomatic cables indicate that the Vatican felt "offended" that Ireland failed to respect Holy See "sovereignty" by asking high-ranking churchmen to answer questions from an Irish government commission probing decades of sex abuse of minors by clergy.

I might add, that the vast majority of these cases were innocent young choir boys and devotee's, raped and sodomized by seducing Priests. How dare a judicial and sovereign government question anything or anybody that Rome chooses to exploit!

This is the spirit of a controlling, dark religious cult, and no doubt the RCC is one albeit the largest one on the planet. Sickening..and arrogant, expecting total absolution to anything they desire..even your young male children.

The growing awareness of young boys being exploited by Catholic clergy is very interesting.

Years ago Jack Chick wrote a lot about abuses within this organization only to be attacked by the evangelical community as well as Catholics. He was discredited all over the place, even though he used documentation to prove his allegations.

Having said all this I am not so sure the popular Protestant church is a whole lot better - today.

If people would only take seriously Paul's admonition about immorality to not let it once be named among you - Ephesians 5:3 - it would save people a lot of grief.

Is it not wonderful that God has promised us everything we need to live godly? 2 Peter 1:2,3: NASB: Grace and peace be multiplied to you in the knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord; 3 seeing that His divine power has granted to us everything pertaining to life and godliness, through the true knowledge of Him who called us by His own glory and excellence

Thank-you, Lord Jesus!
