I just wanted to ask for prayers for many of the families who live in the areas where these terrible storms have brought about so much destruction over the last few days. I know that some of the brothers and sisters that come here to SI live in these areas. I pray that you are safe and that God be with you.

God bless and keep you

We are OK.

The closest tornado touched down around 20 miles south of us. In that area south and west they had hail. The reason I know of it because of the people who came to our store told us of having been in it.

I know some lost loved ones and that is traumatic for the survivors.

God bless you for your concern...and yes they do need the prayers of the saints.

So glad you are safe. Been thinking of you and praying for you. I was also thinking about Krispy. I have not seen him post in a long time but I believe he lives in the NC area?
Will keep you all in my prayers.

with much love
