

An apology - posted by Veronica226 (), on: 2011/5/5 16:45

Brothers and sisters of SI,

I wish to apologize for something I said here almost a year ago. It was a topic about Calvinism I believe, and Greg Gordon said something that I thought was, hmm, harsh I guess is the best word. HOWEVER, I replied back with Ephesians 4:29, only saying that which is edifying. But I believe I said it in the wrong tone and in the wrong spirit. I left the SI forum for other reasons, but the last few weeks I have wanted to post on here but felt that God would not let me unless I apologized first.

So, I am very sorry and apologize, especially to you Greg, for saying that in a harsh spirit. I repent. Please forgive me.

Also, saints, if I say something like that again, please, please, PLEASE rebuke me!

Also I would like to say, I read this topic: https://www.sermonindex.net/modules/newbb/viewtopic.php?topic_id=38637&forum=36&24 "The wrath of God in Christ's darkness" and I was extremely humbled. Sometimes I think I know so much, but really I don't and reading that topic brought that home. There are so many mature saints on here and I am humbled to even be here.

So I also confess my pride to you and repent of it.

Thank you saints.

May God bless you.

In Christ,

Veronica226

Re: An apology - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2011/5/5 17:40

Quote:
-----I wish to apologize for something I said here almost a year ago. It was a topic about Calvinism I believe, and Greg Gordon said something that I thought was, hmm, harsh I guess is the best word. HOWEVER, I replied back with Ephesians 4:29, only saying that which is edifying. But I believe I said it in the wrong tone and in the wrong spirit. I left the SI forum for other reasons, but the last few weeks I have wanted to post on here but felt that God would not let me unless I apologized first.

So, I am very sorry and apologize, especially to you Greg, for saying that in a harsh spirit. I repent. Please forgive me.

Dear sister, Bless you for your heart that is softened by Christ's Spirit. You have set a great example for all of us in humility and Christ-likeness. I 100% forgive you and do ask for your forgiveness in any way I shared the truth or my opinions in a way that was not constructive for the edifying of the body of Christ.

What a wonderful day when we will be using our tongues solely to praise the Lamb of God when we are all around that beautiful throne.

Re: An apology - posted by ginnyrose (), on: 2011/5/5 20:37

Veronica,

I do not recall the post you are referring to, but then I don't read all of them, either.

I would like to say that your openness to be obedient to the Holy Spirit is inspiring. If there is a short cut to spiritual growth it is the ability to apologize when convicted by the Holy Spirit, the act to admit we have been wrong and ask for forgiveness.

God bless, my dear....

Re: - posted by Veronica226 (), on: 2011/5/6 16:23

Quote:
-----Dear sister, Bless you for your heart that is softened by Christ's Spirit. You have set a great example for all of us in humility and Christ-likeness. I 100% forgive you and do ask for your forgiveness in any way I shared the truth or my opinions in a way that was not constructive for the edifying of the body of Christ.

Thank you Greg. And I forgive you 100% as well!

Quote:
-----What a wonderful day when we will be using our tongues solely to praise the Lamb of God when we are all around that beautiful throne.

Amen!!

Re: - posted by Giggles (), on: 2011/5/18 21:32

Good to see you back Veronica :)

Re: An apology, on: 2011/5/19 1:17

A beautiful post!