Ezekiel 20v25, 'Therefore I also gave them up to statutes that were not good and judgments by which they could not live'

Since it is that man no longer desires God's statutes, we reap what we have sown with our own godless statutes.

Hi Enid,

Interestingly, I posted a comment on the BBC News website quoting this scripture and making the comment similar to yours, that we should not be surprised that we are seeing a result of years of teaching lawlessness to God's laws.

Mine was the only comment I could see that got a lot of negative scores against! There were a lot of very politically extreme comments and hard line ones, but they did not provoke a negative reaction. What does that tell you about the state of our nation? Just reinforces the point I suppose!

The intellectual elite have had a grand old time criticising Christianity and exalting the virtues and abilities of man apart from God.

Yet, while their societies are crumbling around them, they refuse to acknowledge that the failure they are witnessing is not faith in God or in religion to deliver on its promises, the failure is with humanism in all its forms.

Man cannot rise above what he worships. Humanity is burning and consuming itself as an offering on the altar of its own self-exalting philosophies.

London burns because men have offered themselves to each other as gods- gods that take the slightest offense with the utmost seriousness and that do as they please.

And who's to stop them after all.

You are all right in your assessment, but please pray for us. May God use this situation to wake us all up.
