Hi everyone. I ran into sermon index when i started listening to sermons by Jim Cymbala, Pastor of Brooklyn Tabernacle.

Anyone care to share a favorite speaker or preacher.

I'm relatively new here myself, but I came to find the audio of Paris Reidhead. I was familiar with a sermon called "Ten Shekels and a Shirt" which I had heard back in the early 60's. My original tape was over 40 years old! When I went online to do a search, I found that some regarded that message as the most influential sermon of the 20th century!

It is archived here, along with 128 of his other messages. He is a man of God, now in The Glorious Presence, who will challenge the way you have been taught some traditional doctrines, and open the Word on those to make you both rethink and go to pray.

That's my two cents- others have their favorites as well, and the list is longer than any of us will be able to fully appreciate.

Its funny I just picked that one.

Its kind of late here. I went to church tonight. So it may have to wait till tomorrow.

Sometimes I find that it is fun to just go to the "speaker" page and pick the one that my mouse lands on. Kinda fun that way :-)

Anything by Edgar Reich, especially 'A Beautiful Mind' and 'The Tears of God', both wonderful!

Peace and welcome!
