

News and Current Events :: Bible Prophecy and Obama

Bible Prophecy and Obama , on: 2012/5/11 2:42

<http://raptureforums.com/EndTimesevents/bibleprophecyobama.cfm>

Bible Prophecy and Obama

Bible Prophecy and Obama
By Chris Schang

An interesting question many people are asking is whether U.S. President Barack Obama is to be found in Bible Prophecy? Many people ask this question because they see many characteristics of Barack Obama matching those of the future Antichrist. While Obama has excellent oratory skills, has risen quickly on the world scene as a leader of the world's lone superpower, been anti-Israel, etc it is understandable why people might ask this question. Some have even suggested that his father's Kenyan roots make him part of the historic British empire and thus he is able to be a part of the revised Roman empire, thus fulfilling the prophecies about the coming "man of sin" - the Antichrist.

However, while Barack Obama stands for many evil things with his political stands for abortion, gay rights, gay marriage, support for sexual perversions, and many other similar liberal and socialist leanings this in itself does not make him the Antichrist or even being a prominent part of Bible prophecy for the end times. While it is true that Barack Obama operates in the spirit of antichrist, it is my humble opinion that he is not THE Antichrist. Further, Barack Obama is surely not the false Prophet either.

The Bible states that the future Antichrist will come among the people who destroyed the Temple and City. The Temple is referring to the Second Temple that was built by Solomon.

Dan 9:26 And after threescore and two weeks shall Messiah be cut off, but not for himself: and the people of the prince that shall come shall destroy the city and the sanctuary; and the end thereof with a flood, and unto the end of the war desolations are determined.

As we can see from the above scriptural reference we can see that the future Antichrist will be the "prince" of the people who destroyed the Temple and the City. As we all know history records the fact that the Romans were the ones who destroyed the Temple and City in 70AD. The City of course would be Jerusalem. This would indicate that the Antichrist would come from the region that was the primary source or home base of the Romans. In fact, Dr. Arnold Frutchenbaum in his book "Footsteps of the Messiah" makes an excellent case that this verse refers to the nationality of the Antichrist as being Italian. Whether the Antichrist comes from Italy or another Western European country remains to be seen, yet they remain the most likely area of origin for the beast - the Antichrist.

While Barack Obama has a very liberal, socialist, and anti-God agenda I am of the belief that Obama's primary role in prophecy is to simply reduce America from the superpower status it currently holds to a status of neutrality or one on par with the rest of the nations of the world. In my honest opinion, I do not think it would be far fetched to see Barack Obama as a forerunner of the Antichrist. Just as John the Baptist was a forerunner announcing the arrival of the Lord, it is amazing to think that Barack Obama could be working in the same capacity but instead to announce the arrival the Antichrist. While Barack Obama has not nor is it likely he would verbally announce the Antichrist it is apparent as we watch Obama's dealings with other world leaders that he easily and shamefully bows down to lesser leaders on the world stage. I do not have any problems with seeing him step aside when the Antichrist arises in the last days.

In fact, I believe that Barack Obama is just the kind of leader that will help fulfill the passages from Ezekiel 38-39 where the rest of the world does pretty much nothing as the Russian lead moslem coalition marches down towards Israel for what they think is her final destruction. While the truth is that God will supernaturally intervene to save Israel, the only thing in my opinion holding up this war is that America stands in the way of letting it happen. This is where the rapture of the church and Obama's systematic and socialist destruction of America from within comes in to fulfill Bible prophecy.

For these reasons I simply do not see Barack Obama as a significant end times player so much as that he is the foretold Antichrist. However, I do believe that Barack Obama has a role to play in making America a non-factor in the future as he he continues to practically destroy America from the inside with his massive spending plans such as his recently passed universal health care program that is likely to add trillions and trillions of dollars to the nation's debt. Which in effect will end up sinking our economic boat. Without a strong economy, we will be ripe for the picking. Obama's socialist takeover and reform of many of the United States financial and banking sectors does not bode well for the United States. The fact is that many of these "plans" Obama has for America are leading us faster towards a one world government as America has always been the main impediment to this globalist vision of power and lost sovereignty of the United States. In order for the future one world government to occur, the world's last remaining superpower must have its power eroded to the point that it simply "falls in line" with the rest of the world. Only then can the globalists achieve their dream of controlling the entire world. This is exactly the kind of thing that will make the coming mark of the beast more easily accepted once other end times prophecies like Psalm 83, Isaiah 17, and Ezekiel 38-39 come into fulfillment. The power vacuum left behind after these events will be the perfect scenario for the rise of the beast - the Antichrist.

So, in the end while the Bible does not in my opinion directly mention Barack Obama in Bible prophecy, I do believe that he has a role to play in these end times whether he realizes it or not. Let us continue to pray for the peace of Jerusalem and that the lost come to the loving and saving grace of the Lord Jesus Christ.

God bless!

Re: Bible Prophecy and Obama , on: 2012/5/11 10:02

I would agree that Obama is an antichrist representing the antichrist spirit that resides in governmental systems. But certainly not the man of lawlessness that one reads about in scripture. Another thing is Christians are for the most part are on guard against Obama. For him to make the statement that he supports gay marriage will be a clue to believers to steer clear of him and pray for his soul.

What we need to be on guard against is the antichrist to deceive even the chosen of God if it were possible. Jesus warns us in Mat.24 that false Christ and prophets will arise and deceive even the elect if it were possible. I don't think I need to warn people about Obama. He just opens his mouth and watchful Christians will know what he is about. Besides the devil will not be that obvious in his deception.

The more dangerous man to be aware of and steer clear of is Mitt Romney. He is a Mormon and not a casual Mormon. He is just as devoted to his satanic system as any radical Moslem. This man has been groomed and indoctrinated into the secret mysteries of the Mormon temple and Masonic lodge. This man could be the fulfillment of the Mormon white horse prophecy to come and save the U S Constitution as it hangs by a thread. This will be the man the devil will use to deceive the chosen of God if they are not walking with Christ.

Mormons come across as very patriotic, lovers of God and country, worshippers of the U S Constitution. I mean when you see Mitt Romney speaking against the backdrop of the American flag this would resonate in the heart of any God fearing American. This is the man to defeat that big bad Obama. This is the man Satan will use to deceive the elect or those who profess to be such.

I warn again in this forum that Mormonism is satanic. It is evil. It is just as evil as Islam. Mormonism is spin off of the masonic lodge. The masons are evil. To this day masons regard the Mormon temple in Salt Lake City as unofficial masonic lodge.

Yet I fear many believers will compromise their conscience and vote for Romney. Saints I warn you do not do this. A vote for Romney could be tantamount to taking the mark. In the words of one poster. Flee Babylon! I say again for the sake of your eternal soul flee Babylon! Do not be deceived by the likes of either Obama or Romney. You have a third choice. His name is Jesus. Cast your vote for him. For sure his promises are true. He will never fail you.

Bearnaster standing down.

Re: - posted by MrBillPro (), on: 2012/5/11 10:13

Quote:
----- bearmaster.....I say again for the sake of your eternal soul flee Babylon! Do not be deceived by the likes of either Obama or Romney. You gave a third choice. His name is Jesus. Cast your vote for him. For sure his promises are true. He will never fail you.

I am still looking, but have not found Jesus name on the ballot for President of the United States. Jesus is doing a fine job at his present job, so let him be.

Re: , on: 2012/5/11 10:22

The problem with using certain bible prophecy is that you have to use the whole thing, not just certain pieces, it flows like a river, either we use the whole thing or we don't use it at all.

For example, when prophecies concern Christ and Anti Christ reside together in the same area we have to assume that what Christ was doing in His day Anti Christ was making his debut in the very near future. We can't lift scriptures out to suit our way of thinking, we have to leave them there and let the Holy Ghost tell us what they all mean to which they were ordained in their day. It is error to do otherwise, in fact that is how false teaching is started, it's started through this rearranging of scripture, lifting verses out of their proper context and strewn all over the place and it's no wonder we are divided on this subject.

Peace Brethren

Re: , on: 2012/5/11 10:30

Jesus is actually a King... we can't elect Him!

In fact, (brace yourselves!) ... Jesus elected us! That election was made before the foundations of the earth.

I know Romney will blur the distinctions between Christianity and the cult of Mormonism. That's not Romney's fault though. Don't blame him for evangelizing. Blame the preachers of this country who have committed a colossal failure to teach their people the Word of God... and blame Christians themselves (many who are only Christians by name) for being lazy and not studying their Bibles.

Krispy

Re: , on: 2012/5/11 11:07

To say cast your vote for Jesus is a figure of speech. But to imply there is a third choice for the believer. One does not have to vote for Obama or Romney. But boycott the election, come out of Babylon, and follow King Jesus. This is one way we can make certain our calling and election. Not the political election.

Bearnaster.

Re: , on: 2012/5/11 11:50

As long as there is a clear vote for and against the murder of unborn children... it is my opinion that Christians need to be involved. To boycott will only allow more and more innocent blood to be shed.

If you're comfortable with that, then boycott. Be like the German Christians who said and did nothing while millions upon millions were hideously murdered.

Boycotting accomplishes nothing except to allow evil to increase unabated.

Quote:
-----This is one way we can make certain our calling and election

Wow... the Bible says nothing like that pertaining to making certain of our calling and election. In fact, Paul used his status as a Roman citizen to advance the cause of the gospel.

Basically what you are saying is "if you don't do what I think you ought to... boycott the election... then you are not a true Christian." That's wrong, brother. You're preaching "works" when you say things like that. It's also very manipulative.

Boycotting elections is not one of the fruits of the Spirit.

All this talk lately about pulling out of everything and holing up somewhere sounds spiritual on the surface... but we are never called to behave like that. We are to be separate from the world in the sense that we are not to participate in sin and be just like the world... but voting in an election for candidates that at least are against the shedding of innocent blood is a godly thing.

"True religion..." is what? That we take care of widows and orphans. It can be argued that the unborn who are in danger of being murdered are orphans.

Krispy

Re: - posted by Miccah (), on: 2012/5/11 12:38

I posted this on a different thread, but feel lead to repost it here...

How can anyone who calls themselves a Christian vote for a Mormon to lead them? I am not questioning your Christianity, but only your common sense.

Think about it folks, your endorsing a CULT HEAD/LEADER to lead our nation. If that doesn't make you step back and say "WAIT", I don't know what will.

The Lord is in control. He will do as He wishes.

Re: , on: 2012/5/11 13:03

I work for a company that is owned by a man who is not a born again believer. Should I quit?

Just curious.

Krispy

Re: , on: 2012/5/11 13:06

Quote:

-----Boycotting elections is not one of the fruits of the Spirit really? Chapter and Verse, please?

didn't Greg say something to you all about this?

i guess he labored on this website CANTED TO REVIVAL, for ten years, to be disregarded by those who have no concept of being in submission to leadership in ministry.

i predict this thread gets locked as well.

Re: - posted by Miccah (), on: 2012/5/11 13:07

Strawman.

Romney is a mormon. He is in a cult. A vote for a cult member, is a vote for the cult itself. The two cannot be separated, but many will try.

Re: , on: 2012/5/11 13:08

Quote:

-----I work for a company that is owned by a man who is not a born again believer. Should I quit?

Just curious.

Krispy

no, but why dont you get off the computer and pay some mind to your family, or chores...OR praying? with your 7900 posts.

Re: , on: 2012/5/11 13:09

Must agree with Micah. Believers are taking leave of their common sense to vote for a Mormon, a cultist to lead them. Has anyone studied the history of Mormonism? Has anyone looked at the ties between Mormonism and the Masonic lodge. Mormons and masons are trained for one thing, power. They seek to take over America and the world. I have no doubt the antichrist will be a mason of the highest or lowest order.

Does anyone really think Romney is prolife or antigay. Hardly. He will say anything to get elected. Antichrist? Yes. He is opposed to the gospel.

Where do we get this myth that believers are supposed to vote or be involved in the governmental process? They have been voting since the days of Ronald Reagan and abortion is still law. The Republicans had the white house and both chambers of Congress and abortion is still law. That was earlier this decade.

As far as Germany prior to WWII Hitler came on the scene because the church stopped being the church. Read Dietrich Bonhoeffer's book Cost of Discipleship and you will see what I mean.

Believers are called to come out of Babylon and be a counter culture. We are called to be the city on a hill. We are called to be salt and light. We are called to be burning lights in the midst of a crooked and depraved generation. But we can only be this if we go to him bearing the disgrace he bore. Going to Jesus on the garbage dump outside of the camp.

Yet I fear many will cry we have no king but Caesar. Or in this case no king but Mitt Romney. Hiyooh Silver.

Bearmaster standing down.

Re: , on: 2012/5/11 13:11

Bearmaster... your words are not helping to bring unity to this forum.

I could probably walk circles around you, brother, in a discussion about Mormonism.

Thats not the point. Please stop with your bombastic declarations toward other believers on this forum. I thought you said you were going back to the den to pray... that was a quick prayer! :-)

Krispy

Re: , on: 2012/5/11 13:12

Wow Neil... that shows your heart.

Krispy

Re: , on: 2012/5/11 13:14

Quote:

-----Wow Neil... that shows your heart.

Krispy

good! so straighten up and fly right.

Re: - posted by MrBillPro (), on: 2012/5/11 13:14

Quote:

----- HezWelling...no, but why dont you get off the computer and pay some mind to your family, or chores...OR praying? with your 7900 posts.

Now was this really necessary? what business is it of others what we do? are you a socialist? :)

Re: - posted by Miccah (), on: 2012/5/11 13:16

Gentlemen, we can disagree, without being disagreeable.

Regardless if we like it or not, the up coming election and Romney's Mormonism IS a Christian issue. It is worth it to discuss together as brothers in the Lord.

I ask that we refrain from attacks, unless it comes from me of course :P

I love you guys. This is why I speak up.

Re: , on: 2012/5/11 13:19

Neil... just curious... how many posts have you made under the 3 or 4 different names you've had over the years?

---> smiling.

Krispy

Re: , on: 2012/5/11 13:21

Quote:

-----Now was this really necessary?

yes it was, its called a public rebuke, i clearly remember Greg Gordon writing to please refrain from political postings.....and that isnt 'socialism'...its called being in being submission to leadership in ministry. done.

Re: , on: 2012/5/11 13:25

Quote:

-----Neil... just curious... how many posts have you made under the 3 or 4 different names you've had over the years?

--> smiling.

Krispy

probably about 1500 to 2000, between "Natan4Jesus", which i asked Greg to remove, and one other in which i was boot ed because i believe it involved arguments with YOU, over the sinfullness of the 2003 invasion of Iraq.

one thing i never did on this forum was lie as to who or what i was or did in my life, Steven.

Re: , on: 2012/5/11 13:25

Why single me out?

I think I know.

Krispy

Re: Krispy, on: 2012/5/11 13:25

Unity? Krispy to what end? If we are speaking unity to advance the kingdom of Christ through the preaching of the gos pel. Then bro I will go with you to the gates of hell to do that and drink some Carolina shine with you afterward. But if w e are speaking unity to elect a Mormon? No go bro. But I still may drink the shine with you.

Bearmaster.

Re: , on: 2012/5/11 13:39

This election will be impacted only through prayer. We have come to a point in our nation where, if we do not fall on our f aces and pray for His deliverance, we will move into history very quickly and judgement will come. We have debated too long. We should pray for both of these men, but foremost we should repent of our loud political rangling that declares ou r faith in men, and our belief that our times are in our own hands.

We are to be light to the world. We are the ekklesia...the called out. We are strangers and pilgrims. The harshness by which brothers here address one another grieves my soul.

Re: - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2012/5/11 13:48 to read the conversations and accusations in this thread is grieving. May God see fit that no one reads such things in a p ublic setting of Christians. If we disagree with others let it be done with such HUGE grace and not speaking ill of each ot hers in front of the assembly of saints and the entire world watching.

Saints,

It is an issue that can be talked about is it ok to see a mormon as president. I feel personally this is an issue that needs t o be understood that there are ancient prophecies by the founders of the Mormons when the constitution hangs by a thr ead that the mormon elders would come and help America (and essentially lead it). this moral collapse has happened.

I am locking this thread and we are considering to delete it. Please saints refrain 100% from speaking ill of each other an d just give any grievance to God in prayer.

this thread is locked.

Re: , on: 2012/5/11 13:49

Quote:

-----The harshness by which brothers here address one another grieves my soul.

Yes... it's gone from harsh to intentionally and spitefully hurtful.

Which why I posted that we should cease the political discussion. I noticed that one barely gets noticed, which says a lot

Krispy