

General Topics :: New Tract - 666 The MarkNew Tract - 666 The Mark - posted by angela_888, on: 2012/6/10 10:09

Whilst evangelizing one day, the Lord spoke to me in prophecy to write a tract about the triple-6 chip.

This is a tract showing world events taking place in the world today on a scientific, technological, economic and social level, and how these events are fulfilling biblical end-times prophecy.

We are now living in the end times where all things are being brought to fulfillment. This message is no longer science fiction (to the world), but is being fulfilled and implemented according to what the bible prophesied 2000 years ago. This tract has been received by almost everyone we share it with, and can open many doors to share the gospel to those who normally wouldn't listen - it is a message that is relevant for all peoples of all nations.

Please download this tract freely and share with others so that they are brought to this accountability of the fulfillment of end times biblical prophetic truth - and to help save them from hell and the lake of fire.

This tract is strategic / effective because:

1. The Lord prophesied to me, as well as another prophet to write it.
2. It shows clear-cut proof of the bible
3. It shows proof of biblical prophecy.
4. It is a tract that can be given to anyone.
5. It is simple, not complicated information.

To download - please click here:

Link 1: http://www.swordofprophecy.com/666_tract.zip (direct download)

Link 2: http://www.swordofprophecy.com/666_chip_image.jpg (view tract)

Link 3: https://docs.google.com/folder/d/0B6wbH930rx_JWDBNaFFaS2JpSk0/edit (document)

Re: New Tract - 666 The Mark - posted by TMK (), on: 2012/6/10 13:10

Nice tract; I just don't believe it. It fits with a dispensational end times view, but the accuracy of this paradigm is certainly debatable.

As technology advances, things are going to change. Why be freaked out about a cashless society, for example? I rarely use cash now. There are all kinds of things that we use today that will obsolete in a few years.

Do you not believe that God knew that man would progress technologically over 2000 years? Of course I understand that any technology can be abused, but technology has also done great things for the spread of the gospel.

TMK

Re: , on: 2012/6/10 13:15

Thanks for your burden. Just be very careful when declaring anything prophetically in the name of the Lord.

Re: TMK, on: 2012/6/10 15:49

Brother the issue is not a cashless society or technology. The issue is a chip on one's person.

Denny Kenniston in a preaching event gave this realistic scenereo. You wake up one morning to this glaring headline. CASHLESS SOCIETY. You read further that you have two months to surrender all cash and pladtic. Next you procede to your local post office or some other government facility. There you will recieve a microchip in the back of your right ha nd or forehead. Without such chip you cannot buy, sell, or carry on business.

Now the question the believer must ask is if they will take such a chip on their person.

This is not a question being discussed in academia. But this is a question that each of us need to be prepared to flesh o ut before the Lord. The implications of refusing the chip or mark would be persecution, possibly death. But to recieve th at mark would be eternal destruction.

God grant we have grace to endure in that final hour.

Bearnaster.

Re: New Tract - 666 The Mark - posted by Heydave (), on: 2012/6/10 17:48

This idea that the mark will be an implanted chip for buying and selling has been around since at least the early 1990s. I' m not saying I don't believe it, but I do have a serious question about the exact nature of any micro chip.

If, as we are told in Revelation 14:9 that anyone who recieves this mark will come under the judgement of God, then this cannot be a simple system for just commercial purposes. God will not condemn anyone for using technology just for buyi ng or selling goods. It must be linked to a deliberate act of aligning oneself with the antichrist in obedience and setting o neself against God and His Christ. In fact this act of worshiping the 'beast' is connected to receiving his mark in Rev 14:9 . Therefore it is not someting that someone can do ignorantly.

Also it is clear that this forcing people to recieve the mark takes place in the middle of the tribulation period, so dependin g upon your view Christians may or may not be around. If we are, it will be a time of great persecution and annarchy any way, not something that will be slipped in during the current climate.

My thoughts.....

Re: New Tract - 666 The Mark - posted by staff, on: 2012/6/10 17:55

Hi Angela,

Their is no doubt we have the ability to track and count everything including people.The tract may be strategic and effect ive also.

On the other side the prophesy has not been fulfilled but is only leading towards the fulfillment.

Also we shouldn't say a microchip is definitely the mark because we don't know that,in fact we could almost say it isn't a microchip.Why?Well we know who that a microchip cannot separate you from God Spiritually.It seems below that having a mark on its own isn't the problem,the problem is that to get the mark you have to worship the beast and his image.

Another thing about the chip is what if you are walking down the street and a few guys pin you down and inject the chip i nto you!You are doomed by no fault of your own.So the the chip doesn't cover that scenario.

We should be saying don't "worship the beast or his image " not" don't receive a chip" and we certainly shouldn't say that a chip is the mark when we don't know whether it is or not b ecause it makes us look foolish,

Yours Staff

Doom for Worshipers of the Beast

9 Then another angel, a third one, followed them, saying with a loud voice, "If anyone worships the beast and his image, and receives a mark on his forehead or on his hand, 10 he also will drink of the wine of the wrath of God, which is mixed in full strength in the cup of His anger ; and he will be tormented with fire and brimstone in the presence of the holy ange ls and in the presence of the Lamb. 11 "And the smoke of their torment goes up forever and ever ; they have no rest day and night, those who worship the beast and his image, and whoever receives the mark of his name." 12 Here is the perseverance of the saints who keep the commandments of God and their faith in Jesus. 13 And I heard a voice from heaven, saying, "Write, 'Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord from now on!' " "Yes," says the Spirit, "so that they may rest from their labors, for their deeds follow with them."

Re: New Tract - 666 The Mark, on: 2012/6/10 18:06

Well, I am one of those stupid believers that when the bible says, "near at hand" I believe it was near at hand. When it says, "at the door", or "NOW is the harvest ripe for picking", I believe that it was. When it says, "shortly come to pass", I believe that it was shortly coming to pass. When Jesus said, "behold I come quickly", I believe that.

As for this chip, that is man's way of interpreting bible prophecy. He moves with the times and adjust his thinking with the new fad that comes his way.

We are always talking about those who change the bible translations but we do it every day by avoiding the time statements to which these things were written. We are always looking to the flesh for it's interpretation.

The Jews were looking for a sign, they were looking for a military Messiah that would come and oust Rome out of their territory, they still look for that and He came but not the way they wanted Him to come. We are no different, we are looking for physical manifestations of what our bible reads. We are going to be sorely disappointed when these things don't come the way we want them to come because they don't fit into our scheme of bible interpretation even when we say we got it from God. Anyone can say that.

We have heard people say, "I did a study on it",.. as if that is the end all of all authenticates. They give that stare of, "I dare you to prove me wrong" look.

"God spoke to me",.....And?

I remember years ago a dear brother whom I love in the Lord had told me that God had given him a revelation of the end days. I listened to him and he was all over the board. I got his printed out revelation and that too was every which way but loose. He was so excited about it that he took a bus to New York City to see Carter Conlon, he pushed his way through to see him and CC gave him an audience. It was all hot air and smoke. Nothing became of it and no wonder, none of it made any sense. He spent hours studying, praying and seeking God for answers and the end thereof was nonsense.

Re: - posted by staff, on: 2012/6/10 18:39

hi Approved,

I think this is so correct however the at some stage the mark will be obvious and deadly to those who worship the beast and take it, Staff

quote-

As for this chip, that is man's way of interpreting bible prophecy. He moves with the times and adjust his thinking with the new fad that comes his way.

Re: , on: 2012/6/10 19:56

Let me pose a direct question. If the government were to come out and mandate, for whatever reason, that every American take a chip. Failure to do so will result in immediate arrest. Would you comply with Caesar and take the chip?

Bearmaster.

Re: - posted by TMK (), on: 2012/6/10 20:08

Heydave wrote:

"It must be linked to a deliberate act of aligning oneself with the antichrist in obedience and setting oneself against God and His Christ. In fact this act of worshiping the 'beast' is connected to receiving his mark in Rev 14:9. Therefore it is not something that someone can do ignorantly."

Well said. I agree 10,000%.

bearmaster wrote:

"If the government were to come out and mandate, for whatever reason, that every American take a chip. Failure to do so will result in immediate arrest. Would you comply with Caesar and take the chip?"

I guess I will cross that bridge if it happens, but I won't hold my breath. To be on the safe side I would probably not take the chip under those stated conditions, if I was certain that doing so was open rebellion against God. Can't see it happening in the near future, but who knows.

There are very sound reasons for believing that the warnings in Revelation WERE about persecutions coming under literal Caesars within the generation of the original readers; not about microchips to be implanted 2000 years in the future.

Re: , on: 2012/6/10 20:23

Romans 15:4 says that whatever was written in the past was written to teach us so that through endurance and the encouragement of the scriptures we might give hope. The New Testament says all scripture IS God-breathed. Not WAS God-breathed.

My point is that not all references to future events can be traced back to 70 AD. One cannot make the assumption that the book of Revelations all refers to the destruction of Jerusalem in 70 AD. I know there are many who hold to these views. I am not one of them.

Yes there were fulfillment of scriptures in the times they were written in. But there is still a future fulfillment of scriptures.

My thoughts..

Bearmaster.

Re: - posted by TMK (), on: 2012/6/11 7:52

Bearmaster wrote:

"Yes there were fulfillment of scriptures in the times they were written in. But there is still a future fulfillment of scriptures."

I certainly agree with this.

Bearmaster wrote:

"My point is that not all references to future events can be traced back to 70 AD. One cannot make the assumption that the book of Revelations all refers to the destruction of Jerusalem in 70 AD. I know there are many who hold to these views. I am not one of them."

Neither was I, until a few years ago when I was first actually examined other end times views than dispensationalism. I was very very resistant at first, since all I ever heard in church and Christian radio and in the books I read was the "Left Behind" end times view. At this point I am not "sold" on any end times view. But I know enough to understand that it is unwise to be dogmatic about a dispensationalist end times viewpoint.

I certainly don't want to get into a big debate about preterism, etc because I do not completely grasp it all yet myself. But I do know that Revelation is apocalyptic literature, which was a definite literary style at the time it was written, and much simply cannot be taken literally("And the stars of heaven fell to the earth, as a fig tree drops its late figs when it is shaken by a mighty wind." Rev. 6:13). I certainly am not suggesting that this book is not inspired scripture; just that it has a literary style that must be taken into account in trying to interpret what it means. The language of Isaiah 34 in describing the doom of Edom has similar language:

"Its streams shall be turned into pitch,
And its dust into brimstone;
Its land shall become burning pitch.
It shall not be quenched night or day;
Its smoke shall ascend forever."

I am pretty sure if you travel to that area today there is not still smoke ascending into heaven.

That is the only point I am trying to make.

Re: , on: 2012/6/11 9:55

Two things came to mind as I read this thread...

1) We do need to be careful not to let news headlines dictate or flavor our eschatology. At the same time, we are to be aware of the "signs of the times". We are certainly not the first generation to look at what's going on in the world and believe "this is it! End times!".

...of course, we are the first generation to see the nation of Israel in existence on a map since AD 70. That is something that has never been seen before since the writing of the Bible. Pretty significant.

2) No offense to the original poster, but whenever someone says that God spoke to them prophetically to say something on His behalf... that's a huge red flag for me.

That's said so flippantly these days... and we need to be careful of that. The prophets of old were VERY reluctant to speak on behalf of God, to the point of trembling. Today people claim to speak on behalf of God about as lightly as they would order a burger at McDonalds.

God has already spoken. It's called "The Bible". I do believe He speaks thru people today, but it will NEVER be anything that can't be backed up and verified in the already written Word of God.

Krispy

Re: , on: 2012/6/11 12:01

Quote:
----- I do believe He speaks thru people today, but it will NEVER be anything that can't be backed up and verified in the already written Word of God.

I am just using your words brother, I am not responding to you. :-)

Why is it that Daniel 9:27 covenant maker have to be an Anti Christ? Why couldn't it be Christ Himself? 70 weeks were determined from the time the decree was sent forth to restore and rebuild Jerusalem (from the time of Cyrus), would it be of any surprise if God took the final week of those weeks and used that for Christ?

That He would confirm the covenant (not make a peace treaty). Confirming is not the same as creating one, confirming is to 'make good' on what has already been agreed upon.

In that final week, Christ was cut off in the midst of the week causing the sacrifice and the oblation to cease (even though they physically continued on in unbelief) as far as the law and the prophets were concerned Christ had fulfilled His part.

And because the Jews carried on in unbelief and continued the sacrifices those sacrifices became an abomination in the sight of God. Isaiah 66:3 He that killeth an ox is as if he slew a man; he that sacrificeth a lamb, as if he cut off a dog's neck; he that offereth an oblation, as if he offered swine's blood; he that burneth incense, as if he blessed an idol. Yea, they have chosen their own ways, and their soul delighteth in their abominations.

"And for the (and because of) overspreading of abomination", Christ, not Anti Christ, would cause certain desolation (outlined in the law) because of the ultimate disobedience of destroying their only way out, their Messiah (and they knew who He was, according to the parables).

But their end was near, the city and its temple were to be destroyed and never rise again in its former glory. Christ hath fulfilled His covenant with Abraham and to those who have the faith of Abraham, being both Jew and Gentile. This new covenant moved from being flesh to spiritual. Jews are now anyone both Jew or Gentile who are circumcised in heart not flesh.

Isaiah 66:4 I also will choose their delusions, and will bring their fears upon them; because when I called, none did answer; when I spake, they did not hear: but they did evil before mine eyes, and chose that in which I delighted not.

John was sent to pave the way, Christ was sent to be the WAY. He called, none answered. When He spoke, they closed their ears, lest they should hear with their ears and see with their eyes. God sent them a strong delusion and they believed the lie of a false messiah that would save their city and temple from the Romans. They were driven out from Rome and had to find other places to live, it's very possible they heard of a renewed hope in Jerusalem where their people were taking refuge in believing that their messiah had come at last to deliver them, only for them to be delivered into the hands of the enemy. Like today's Muslims, they made their pilgrimage to their Mecca Jerusalem to fulfill their obligations to their feast days.

Great Tribulation had come, a time of terrible sorrows for a people shut in. The trial was so great they ended up eating their children, brother turned against brother and people trying to escape were shot. Water that came through an underground aqueduct was cut off by the Romans. It was a desperate time for these people and they were shut in for a period of 3.5 years. In Josephus's annals of the Jewish wars, it was said that the Jews set fire to the Temple.

Christ used the Roman Army to destroy His enemies, thus fulfilling the part about "Taking vengeance on them that know not God and obey not the Gospel of God" 1Thess2:15. This is not new, God has done this before with ancient godless armies. Jeremiah 21:10 For I have set my face against this city for evil, and not for good, saith the LORD: it shall be given into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall burn it with fire.

An Example of this is: Ezekiel 29:18 Son of man, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon caused his army to serve a great service against Tyrus: every head was made bald, and every shoulder was peeled: yet had he no wages, nor his army, for Tyrus, for the service that he had served against it: 20 I have given him the land of Egypt for his labour wherewith he served against it, because THEY WROUGHT FOR ME, saith the Lord GOD.

Revelation 6:10 And they cried with a loud voice, saying, How long, O Lord, holy and true, dost thou not judge and avenge our blood on them that dwell on the earth?

This is speaking about that period between Christ ascension and the end of the age. Those who were under the Altar were in the bosom of Abraham if you will, under the footstool, they had not yet ascended because not all had been fulfilled. Once that time came they would arise from the dead and meet the Lord in the air.

Revelation 6:11 And white robes were given unto every one of them; and it was said unto them, that they should REST yet for a LITTLE season, until their fellow servants (Christians of that time period) also and their brethren, that should be killed as they were, should be fulfilled.

"Should be fulfilled" is what Christ said they would do to His disciples.

Revelation 6:12 And I beheld when he had opened the sixth seal, and, lo, there was a great earthquake; and the sun became black as sackcloth of hair, and the moon became as blood;

When the "Little Season" of time was up, this six seal was opened and there was great tribulation. Israel who represented as the Sun the Moon and the Stars became darkened. The end of the Mosaic time of law keeping was coming to a close, its Temple and its city as the light of the world must be destroyed.

Revelation 6:13 And the stars of heaven fell unto the earth, even as a fig tree casteth her untimely figs, when she is shaken of a mighty wind.

Their power and influence had diminished and died. The fig tree is Israel not the mighty olive branch. (Jer24:1) Christ gave us this example when He went to seek fruit from it, seeing none He cursed it. The mighty wind is the Roman Army moving in swiftly and taking them by surprise.

Revelation 6:14 And the heaven departed as a scroll when it is rolled together; and every mountain and island were moved out of their places.

Heaven here is referring to Israel. Every mountain and island are established foundations that never move according to our geological physical standpoint but spiritually they were moved out of their places. Namely kings and princes.

Revelation 6:15 And the kings of the earth, and the great men, and the rich men, and the chief captains, and the mighty men, and every bondman, and every free man, hid themselves in the dens and in the rocks of the mountains; 16 And said to the mountains and rocks, Fall on us, and hide us from the face of him that sitteth on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb:

They finally realized that for all their folly of killing Christ, they were now crying out to the powers that be to kill them. They were in such a bad way and realizing all that had befallen on them must be a judgment of God that they begged for death.

Revelation 6:17 For the great day of his wrath is come; and who shall be able to stand?

It had come AFTER the "little season" was over.

The wrath of God was only to be poured upon those who made the covenant with death. The covenant with death is that which God outlined in the law that He would do to them if they did not obey the law. Certain judgments and woes and terrible decrees would be issued. The foolish thing about this whole thing was they agreed to it even when Moses warned them they would not keep it, they still agreed to it. Their fate was sealed.

They didn't have to agree to it, they could have all cried out to God to be merciful to them and told Him that it was not possible to keep the law in our current condition being so wayward and disobedient, God would have been overwhelmed with such piety that He would have drawn up another way out for this people that are feeling after Him. Such wasn't the case at all.

So yes, Krispy, I do agree with your words that it must be backed up by the word of God. The word of God does not need CNN to interpret its prophecies. It's all found in the word itself.

Re: - posted by Miccah (), on: 2012/6/11 12:04

Quote:
-----but whenever someone says that God spoke to them prophetically to say something on His behalf... that's a huge red flag for me.

yep

Re: - posted by staff, on: 2012/6/11 20:01

Hi Bearmaster,

Firstly you equate the american government with caesar which it is not. Secondly I wouldnt accept it because it would mean a dictatorship has arrived and would if I were American be against my constitutional rights etc.

You continue to incorrectly say that the chip is the mark. By saying its the mark, when it turns out not to be you are making christians to look ignorant of God and foolish in the worlds eyes.

Again if a couple of guys pinned me down and injected a chip into me then I would be doomed without doing anything to deserve it.

Yours staff

Quote:

Let me pose a direct question. If the government were to come out and mandate, for whatever reason, that every American take a chip. Failure to do so will result in immediate arrest. Would you comply with Caesar and take the chip?

Re: Marks - posted by savannah, on: 2012/6/11 23:05

To the OP,

You wrote,

"This tract is strategic / effective because:

1. The Lord prophesied to me, as well as another prophet to write it."

No! The LORD did not prophesy to you or your accomplice. Be not deceived!

You wrote,

"2. It shows clear-cut proof of the bible"

No! It does not! It is not Bible truth but novel fiction!

You wrote,

"3. It shows proof of biblical prophecy."

No! It does not! It shows proof of unbiblical fantasy.

Do not post this foolishness here for the saints to endure.

To Approved,

Thanks for your entire post which begins with these words,

"Why is it that Daniel 9:27 covenant maker have to be an Anti Christ? Why couldn't it be Christ Himself?"

I know your questions are rhetorical, and that the answer is that, indeed it is Christ Himself being prophesied of here in Daniel.

This is not an obscure passage, for we read of Messiah in both verses (25,26) preceeding this verse (27).

And as Matthew Henry comments,

"He is called Messiah (Dan_9:25, Dan_9:26), which signifies Christ - Anointed (Joh_1:41)...He must confirm the covenant with many. He shall introduce a new covenant between God and man, a covenant of grace, since it had become impossible for us to be saved by a covenant of innocence. Christ gave his life a ransom for many. He must cause the sacrific and oblation to cease. By offering himself a sacrifice once for all he shall put an end to all the Levitical sacrifices, shall supercede them and set them aside; when the substance comes the shadows shall be done away. He causes all the peace-offerings to cease when he has made peace by the blood of his cross, and by it confirmed the covenant of peace and reconciliation."

His comments as well as numerous other commentators are agreed as to what the Spirit is saying here in His Word.

Re: Many are invited but few are chosen! - posted by angela_888, on: 2012/6/12 4:58

Hi Savannah. The Lords says:

2 "The kingdom of heaven is like a king who prepared a wedding banquet for his son. 3 He sent his servants to those who had been invited to the banquet to tell them to come, but they refused to come.

4 "Then he sent some more servants and said, 'Tell those who have been invited that I have prepared my dinner: My oxen and fattened cattle have been butchered, and everything is ready. Come to the wedding banquet.'

5 "But they paid no attention and went off—one to his field, another to his business. 6 The rest seized his servants, mistreated them and killed them. 7 The king was enraged. He sent his army and destroyed those murderers and burned their city.

8 "Then he said to his servants, 'The wedding banquet is ready, but those I invited did not deserve to come. 9 So go to the street corners and invite to the banquet anyone you find.' 10 So the servants went out into the streets and gathered all the people they could find, the bad as well as the good, and the wedding hall was filled with guests.

11 "But when the king came in to see the guests, he noticed a man there who was not wearing wedding clothes. 12 He asked, 'How did you get in here without wedding clothes, friend?' The man was speechless.

13 "Then the king told the attendants, 'Tie him hand and foot, and throw him outside, into the darkness, where there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.'

14 "For many are invited, but few are chosen."

Matthew 22:2-14

Re: , on: 2012/6/12 6:22

Yea, I'm with Savannah on this one.

God is not giving new revelation today. We have the Bible, the problem is most Christians don't read it. When God does speak prophetically today it will ALWAYS be in 100% agreement with what He has already said in His Word.

If it isn't, then it's not from God. It's either from the flesh of the one who has been deceived into thinking they are a prophet, or it's from Satan.

According to the Bible the way we can know if someone is a true prophet all of their prophecies will be 100% accurate. So... I have to ask, since you have declared yourself a prophet of God... have all of your prophecies come true and been 100% accurate?

Krispy

Re: , on: 2012/6/12 11:05

Quote:
----- One cannot make the assumption that the book of Revelations all refers to the destruction of Jerusalem in 70 AD. I know there are many who hold to these views.

Many do not, some do.

I agree with you, the prophecy's did not just end at this particular date, it continues on afterwards but not to our day.

For example it's written, Daniel 9:26 And after threescore and two weeks shall Messiah be cut off, but not for Himself: and the people (Rome) of the prince (Titus, Ceasers son) that shall come shall destroy the city and the sanctuary; and the end thereof shall be with a flood, and unto the end of the war desolations are determined.

"Unto the end of the war desolations are determined".

After the war that destroyed the city and the Temple desolations for the Jewish people were determined. Most of the people that was in Jerusalem during the war had perished, hundreds of thousands were killed, there was a few thousand that survived, the choicest of them were taken and sold as slaves to Rome, the old the weak and dying were left. They did not leave as a people in one group and placed in a land like Goshen, they were separated from each other and no longer free people do to what they would like. They were other people's property.

We have to understand the severity of what happened. Why such pain for this race of people? The problem was it's rejection of their Messiah and the killing of all the prophets before Him. The blood of those prophets were screaming from the ground for God to administer justice to innocent blood. This was a grave injustice. These prophets were cut off without a posterity, without carrying on their name which was important at one time, (in some cultures it still is). Christ was cut off, the finality of all Prophets had died. In the parables, the king would destroy those caretakers and let his vineyards out to other to bring in the fruits thereof because of the killing of the one he thought they would give reverence.

Desolations were determined for sometime afterward. When you read some of it's history you can see what happened. There were times that they tried to rebuild Jerusalem only to be hit with more desolations and omens even.

What was Jerusalem that they so loved about it?

It was the light of the world. It was the Tibet, Mecca, Vatican City of the day. It had a history and it survived. They had Moses, the stories that they heard about all the famous kings and superpowers that came through there. Of Hezekiah's prayer to turn back the Assyrian army, oh the glory of all that took place and to see Jerusalem destroyed by Babylon only to have it rebuilt by permission of the Persian King Cyrus. It was rich in history, rich in wisdom knowledge and understanding. People from all of the world flocked to this area.

Rome was a tyrant, but it was also very superstitious. It had no trouble favoring all religions providing they gave obeisance to it's Ceaser. Judea was tolerated because of Jerusalem and it's Temple. In all the world at that time, Jerusalem was a hot spot for messiahs and the conjurers of tricks. When one messiah was taken out of the way another one replaced him it was a constant flow. Why?

Because of the prophecies!

Some people knew that Messiah was coming soon, they didn't know when but Daniel gave instructions as to the timeline which they were living in. So Satan uses the opportunity to raise up his wannabes to draw many away so that when the real one comes they won't know what to believe. It's no wonder there was so much unbelief, they were conditioned beforehand to not believe in a conjurer of tricks, they've been preconditioned to disbelieve anything from God because of the false messiahs that came before him.

John 10:8 All that ever came before me are thieves and robbers: but the sheep did not hear them.

The "sheep" here is not all Israel, He means those who have the faith of Abraham, or have ears to hear.

Re: , on: 2012/6/12 11:22

Quote:
-----One cannot make the assumption that the book of Revelations all refers to the destruction of Jerusalem in 70 AD. I know there are many who hold to these views.

I dont mean to nit-pick but it doesnt come across as very knowledgable when someone seeks to teach others about a particular book of the Bible... and they cant get the name of the book right.

It's not the Book of Revelation"S".

It's singular... Revelation. Only one revelation, and that being of the Lord Jesus Christ.

It just sounds terribly ignorant.

Krispy

Re: Krispy, on: 2012/6/12 11:33

Bro how many of your 8000 post you have not typed without a midpell? Get over it. It was a simple mistake. You are going to see mite of these when the mods remove the edit key.

Bearmaster

Re: , on: 2012/6/12 11:48

Quote:
-----I dont mean to nit-pick but it doesnt come across as very knowledgable when someone seeks to teach others about a particular book of the Bible... and they cant get the name of the book right.

Knowledgeable sounding or not, he's still right nonetheless.

Re: , on: 2012/6/12 12:09

Yes, I too have heard it said "The book of Revelations" when it's called the book of "The Revelation of Jesus Christ". Let me just display the verse, Revelation 1:1 The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave unto him, to shew unto his servants things which must shortly come to pass; and he sent and signified it by his angel unto his servant John: 2 Who bare record of the word of God, and of the testimony of Jesus Christ, and of all things that he saw.

There is a lot of meat just in this one verse.

The Revelation of Jesus Christ.
The Revelation which God gave to Christ.
To shew unto His servants.
Which must shortly comes to pass.
To signify this Revelation through an Angel to John.
John bore record of the word of God. (At His resurrection)
John had the testimony of Jesus Christ. (the Holy Ghost)
John witnessed everything that he saw. (life death burial and resurrection).

Bearmaster, don't worry about the misspelled word, it's a common mistake, most of us know what your meaning. :-)

Re: , on: 2012/6/12 12:11

If it's a misspelling that's one thing... but I've heard it called Revelations in sermons, written in books, sung in songs... and it does matter.

If you disagree... well, ok.

Krispy

Re: , on: 2012/6/12 12:31

Krispy what is with you. I think you just want to argue for arguments sake. Why don't you go save some souls. Go share Jesus, man.

Bearmaster

Re: , on: 2012/6/12 12:37

Sorry that is go save some souls. Go share Jesus man and stop trying to be a spell check on other people's post.

Bearmaster standing down.

Re: , on: 2012/6/12 13:03

OH Krispy, Just let the thing rest, and let us continue on studying the contents of this thread. So what if they are doing it in other sermons, what are we going to do about them? Probably nothing.

However, why keep hounding on the matter when it's already been said? The message was taken and now leave it be. Even I received it. Now let it go. Don't even respond to my post, just let it go brother. Just leave it alone. Don't be tempted to post some one liner of defense, just let it be. There is always an itch to say the last word, let it be.

Please.

Re: , on: 2012/6/12 13:05

I said if you disagree with me it's ok. I made a statement, I'm not arguing.

Krispy

Re: , on: 2012/6/12 13:07

You couldn't even give into my request Brother. :-(

Re: , on: 2012/6/12 14:01

I wrote my last post as you were writing yours... I never saw your "request" until about 30 seconds ago. (Look at the timestamps)

People need to stop assuming the worst of people around here. Bear assumes I don't share my faith... you assume I ignore your request...

I give up. People are getting impossible around here.

Krispy

Re: - posted by ginnyrose (), on: 2012/6/12 23:11

I do not want to get embroiled in this but Krispy is making a valid point when he says that:

' "It's not the Book of Revelation" S'.

It's singular... Revelation. Only one revelation, and that being of the Lord Jesus Christ." '

Too many people pick and choose in interpreting the book. But the whole book is ONE Revelation or vision or dream. All of it is a part of a whole that can not be separated from another. One must remember the chapters as they appear in our Bibles did not appear in the autographs - they were put there later to make it easier to read.

To say 'Revelations' would imply there was more than one. (Yes, I took Revelation in Bible School and our instructor was adamant about pronouncing it correctly. :-))

Re: - posted by TMK (), on: 2012/6/13 7:14

This is getting ridiculous.

Why not call it "The Apocalypse of Jesus Christ?" That is closer to the actual greek.

And maybe we should stop calling Jesus "Jesus." That really isn't his name, is it?

Re: , on: 2012/6/13 11:00

Ginny, no one is questioning that he is not right. Of course the word is in it's singular not plural, the point was made. Bearshare recognized his mistake but Krispy kept on with his trademark one liners. He keeps on and on, not just this thread but many others. I've even asked him to stop, he couldn't even do that which tells me that though he loves scriptural order, yet in his own life he can't even refrain from having the last word.

"To agree to disagree" is always the outcome.

I loved his last posting though, he finally said, "I give up".

I thought, "ah finally".

It's too bad the PM was taken away, a lot of these disputed things could be done behind closed doors and not in the forums.

For example, Krispy could have PM'd Bearshare and took him aside and said, "just thought I'd let you know brother about your post, it's Revelation not Revelations, you may want to go in there and correct that buddy".

He would no doubt thank him and Bearshare might have gone in (to his post) and gave a little note saying that someone PM'd him about the misspelled word and gave him the heads up and how important that such words should be spelled properly and how he appreciated the PM from the brother.

If we were in person in a gathering, we would have taken the brother aside privately and done so, unfortunately, we can't do it here, so it ends up being done in an open forum for everyone to see and of course it's going to be taken out of context.

I know for sure that Krispy meant in all sincerity that he was being helpful, that is not in dispute.

Since this thread is totally lost to hijacking, it's of absolute no value whatsoever now.

Re: , on: 2012/6/13 11:07

All right people. ENOUGH! I was the one that made the mistake. And it was a mistake. I put the s on Revelation. AND IT WAS A MISTAKE. Now please stop straining at a gnat to swallow a camel. For I believe there are more important things to be about than spell checking one another's post.

In case anybody is not aware of this. A saint was beheaded in Tunisia. We gave 3000 brothers and sisters in shipping containers in Eritrea. There are 40,000 believers in death camps in N. Korea. The Nubian Christians are being slaughtered in Sudan. And you are carrying on over my mistake in a post. Some of you have too much time on your hands.

Now get over it and let us move on to kingdom business.

My apologies to the poster of this thread for its apparent hijacking.

Bearmaster.