How many of you get typing and you've typed for quite a bit of time, lets say 45 minutes and then something comes over you and instead of hitting submit you hit the Sermon Index logo at the top or the X to close the browser?

I do it quite often.

I sometimes think,

"No one is going to pay attention to this" or,
"You fool, who do you think you are?",
"This is crazy",
"They are going to think I am out to lunch"
"Why bother"
"What am I doing!?"
"You have no business writing this"
"Come on, you really don't know what your talking about"

Anyone go through this, or am I the only one?

Yes, quite often. What are your thoughts. Every thought you have listed I can relate to. I guess my biggest concern is that, if it is written in the Spirit, who am I to cancel it no matter what others think.

Yep, I do that as well.
