

News and Current Events :: City says Christians can't give water to thirsty

City says Christians can't give water to thirsty - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2012/8/11 17:32

Phoenix officials have until next Friday to apologize for the actions of a code enforcement officer after he stopped Christians from giving out water bottles to city festival participants on a day that reached 112 degrees.

A legal team that fights for religious and civil rights is also demanding a commitment that the city will no longer interfere with the Christian group's acts of charity.

According to a letter to the city from the Rutherford Institute, the case developed in July during a "First Friday" festival when Dana Crow-Smith was giving "free bottles of cold water to passersby" on the public sidewalk "as a means of exercising her Christian beliefs" ...

read more: <http://www.wnd.com/2012/08/city-says-christians-cant-give-water-to-thirsty/>

Re: City says Christians can't give water to thirsty, on: 2012/8/11 17:52

Honestly, I wonder about Phoenix? What is it about this city? Do they just naturally despise Christians?

Bearmaster.

Re: - posted by Koheleth, on: 2012/8/11 18:22

Of course they do. Certainly. Why should we expect any differently? "The carnal mind is hatred against God."