

Miracles that follow the plow :: please pray for little girl (update)*please pray for little girl (update) - posted by MaryJane, on: 2012/8/30 15:43

May I ask you for prayer. My husbands coworker has a three week old baby girl and she has been put into the hospital with high fever and bacterial meningitis. This is their first child and they are very upset and worried for their little one, her name is Zoey.

If you feel led to please pray for Zoey.

God Bless

Lord God, please revive precious little Zoey to full health and vitality... Amen.

Love-in-Christ,

KP

Thank You Jesus_is_God

I wish I had better news but little Zoey is still fighting a high fever that will not break. She remains in the hospital where they have her surrounded by ice packs and on breathing tubes. Her dad broke down today he is so worried for his little girl

maryjane

Thank you KP for your prayers

MaryJane, do they have any idea how Zoey contracted bacterial meningitis? This has really stumped me. Very upsetting.

Re: , on: 2012/8/30 23:01

"suffer the little children to come unto Me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of God."

We all stretch forth our hands by faith to touch the child and rebuke the fever in Jesus name.

Mary Jane thank you for bringing this to us, I am deeply touched by this little girl.

Oh Father, precious Father in heaven. Glory to God most high.

Have and will pray

Re: - posted by MaryJane, on: 2012/9/1 8:01

Thank you all for your prayers. My husband has not learned anything new as Zoey's dad was not at work but at the hospital yesterday. Will continue to let you know how things are going. From what I understand right now she is still in the hospital, she is not better but she has not gotten worse either.

thank you again for praying and please continue to as the LORD brings this little one to mind.

God bless

My husband heard from Zoey's dad, her temperature came down one degree today so it's down to 103 now. She is otherwise the same. Her white blood cell count has been really high and there is concern over that.

Please keep little Zoey and her parents in your prayers.

God Bless

Little Zoey is still in the hospital and on a breathing ventilator. Her temperature has come down a few more degrees but the infection is not fully responding yet to the medications. Her parents are exhausted and just really need prayer.

Thank you to those who feel led to continue praying.

God bless

Re: update - posted by romanchog (), on: 2012/9/6 9:35

Dear Heavenly Father, please place Your hand on this little girl. Pour Your healing upon her, that she may not only recover but that she is made whole and new. Give grace to her parents in this situation. If they do not know You, draw them near to You that they may enter the fold of Your sheep who hear Your voice.

In Jesus precious name. Amen

Zoey is back home now. She was able to go home just yesterday. It has been a long battle but I know all your prayers made the difference. She does still need breathing treatments and they have to keep a close eye on her but right now she is alert and seems to be doing fine.

Thank you all for faithfully praying for this little girl.

God Bless
