Homeschooling has become a viable option for parents - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2012/9/4 12:22

Back-to-School sales are hitting stores across the country but an increasing number of parents are preparing for a decidedly non-traditional Back-to-School — those choosing to homeschool their children. Many people think of homeschooling as something reserved for the religious and the free-spirited but nothing could be further from the truth. Homeschooling is no longer a fringe movement. It is a viable mainstream option for many parents. It's also a choice my wife and I have made for our family.

Homeschooling has traditionally been done by Christian families but the main reasons parents choose homeschooling to day don't strictly resonate with religious families. Parents are given a way to develop customized curricula for their children. In addition to faith-based learning parents have the freedom to emphasize the values they feel should be incorporated into their child's education. They also have ...
