

SermonIndex Announcements :: Sermon Index Iphone App - Re-releasedSermon Index Iphone App - Re-released - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2012/9/26 17:36

Saints,

We are excited to announce we have re-released the iphone App for SermonIndex with many new features. There is a browsable bible that you can do daily readings on and also listen to each reading in the ESV version. We have added more content including some short videos and will continue to add more content. Currently there are over 200 messages from over 20 speakers.

You can download messages on the app to carry with you and listen to them anytime. We trust the Lord will be glorified and blessed by this App. Please leave a review of the App in the apple store so others can be encouraged to download and listen to these sermons.

Looking forward to the android app brother, but then again I'm not a big app fan or user, I'd rather just use the full site. Thanks for making the content of SI more available. Praise God,

Josh

Josh, the SI app. is a little different than most "forum" apps. You have to navigate a little to get to the forums, most forum apps when you open them up using tapatalk, or dedicated forum apps. they take you right to the forum, and also have the last thread you participated in and newest threads. Maybe it was designed this way, or there going to do some tweaking, don't know, but for me just the regular "old way" works best.

Well done, brother. Thank you for continuing to make such solid Biblical preaching available. May the Lord strengthen you in every way for His good pleasure through Jesus Christ.
