

Miracles that follow the plow :: my friend stan and keith are needed in prayer again*my friend stan and keith are needed in prayer again, on: 2012/12/9 22:20

I wanted to update my friend Stan and his marriage right now with also more prayer requests for him. My friend in his wife split up for the past month and were almost considering divorce and then they have both decided to get back together just recently and not get divorced, so thank you for prayers for them and continued prayers are needed. My friend Stan is not staying with her right now though, but with his family and he is having a very hard time living with his family and the fact that his wife does not want to be close to him. Also he has been having health problems at the same time and also having hard time finding people who can comfort him and understand him. If you could pray for him daily and earnestly he really needs and I just had got off the phone with him and he was having chest pains so please pray for him. My other prayer request is for my friend Keith's salvation

Re: my friend stan and keith are needed in prayer again, on: 2012/12/9 22:23

also my friend Keith is having very bad health problems