I will pray for you. I know all too well the enemy loves to use stress, worry, and anxiety against the Lord's children but keep your focus on JESUS and trust in HIM.

God bless

Please do a little research on vitamin deficiency and panic attack. It may be as simple as taking a B-complex to calm anxiety attacks

Doctors don't usually suggest anything besides drugs!

Amen! I read yesterday were 60% of the folks that die of drug overdoses, it's from prescription drugs. I lost my X of 38 years, on Dec. 17th from a prescription drug overdose. I agree, stick with the herbal stuff. Vitamin D3 has been a miracle vitamin for me, been taking 5,000 a day for 6 months and not even a sniffle since. Praying!

PS
Someone should start a thread about herbal and vitamin success stories in their own personal lives.

I will, but over the past few years I have been going through some personal problems, which I believe has caused me to have anxiety and a mild case of depression. I thank you all for your prayers and blessings in my life. I am always praying for sermon index.

Depression is like a dark cloud over your life and I ask the Father to shine His light into your heart and dispell it. I ask that your anxiety gives way to a peace that passes understanding and be gone for good. Our God is faithful and will never leave your side. I ask that He be more real than ever before and in Him may you find freedom from these debilitating episodes.
