Please pray for the Lord's guidance and discernment for a position that I will be interviewing for next week.

It would be a full-time temporary (9 months) position teaching at a local university. Normally I would jump at the position but the pay is not great despite this being a wealthy private university. If I take this job I would of course have to stop looking for other positions. I don't want to close any doors that God may have for me. If it is the Lord's will then it will be fine but I want to make sure that it is what He is wanting for me and my kids. (Emotionally this will also be difficult because it is where my husband and I met, married and lived for the first two years of our marriage. I am not basing my decision on this, though.)

Thanks for your prayers.

Will pray as the Holy Spirit reminds me.

How are things going for you by now?

Love and prayers,
ginnyrose

Thanks ginnyrose.

Things are up and down emotionally. I feel very lonely. My husband was my best and only friend. I have never had time to have friends and never felt the need for them. I don't have a church family since we have not been able to find one. I have my children, which are a blessing, but I still really miss my husband. I cannot wait to be home!

The Lord is good.
