The Coming Persecution Will Break Down Strong Carnal Walls of Denominational Division - posted by sermonindex (),

The house Church movement in China has some separations into different networks. Yet this underground Church is unified. They all agree with each other and declare there are no denominations or sects in China but one faith, one Baptism and one Lord.

Of course there is the activity of some cults and even some denominations yet surprisingly there is a great unity in the body of Christ there, just like we find in the Book of Acts. At times we feel the prayer of Jesus for the unity of the body of Christ rarely sees fulfillment, but not so in China!

Yet as persecution— even worldwide persecution— ensues against the Church there will be unity that will come, which will only be explainable as a miracle.

There are such carnal strong walls that men have built up against each other in the body of Christ that for all those walls to crumble requires the power of God Himself.

This will happen as God unifies and gathers the body of Christ in local areas for a last days testimony of His grace and love to a lost world. May those who are gathering under the Headship of Jesus Christ seek to find unity with any true believer no matter what sect they are involved in or church they still attend.
