This is a true story that happened over 75 years ago in our city.

They were zealous for the things of God, the baptist were praying for revival to come to our city. They cried and prayed and fasted. They hungered for God to bring life into a dead drunken city.

Finally their prayer was answered revival came but it didn't come the way they expected, people began to receive what the 120 received on the day of pentecost and it clashed with their belief that was all over and not for us today, though some struggled with this most abandoned the work that God gave them.

But all was not lost God moved upon those who did receive Him and began a great move of God. Not long after that 2 Sisters from Georgia came up to establish a church in these parts and they helped continue the revival. Not long after that the Revival was overflowing the building they were in and they needed another building which they bought an old theatre in the city's centre which gave birth to several of the pentecostal churches that formed in this city.

Question, are you willing to move with God even if it is contrary to the way you believe and were raised?
