Gregory

I remember when I was 26. And I am glad that I am not now. I look forward to getting older.

My prayer is that the older you become the wiser you will be, in the Word and Prayer.

Brother Kire.. yes that quote has been in my heart and mind so many times in the last year! Wow it has been 2 years.. being 24 when I met you and many others on this site. I pray I keep maturing and growing in Christ. I have asked the Lord that for my birthday He would give me a gift.. thats all I want! Lord fill me and use me for your service.. Lord use me!..

Happy birthday Greg Â“Melkam LedetÂ” in my language.

Greg I thank God that even the years are 26 He made you useful and mature. Where are the 26 years of our days? God has already made you a Â“fatherÂ” to many of us eventhough we are many years older than you! May the coming years of your life be for His Glory. AMEN!

Happy Birthday

May He grant you an increasing "more of Him" in your life. I also pray that He will grant you the words to share the reality you're experiencing in your life with Christ with others.

That's something I'm struggling with a lot...and well...since you're attending a Bible school and love the Lord your God wholeheartedly...I suppose (and know for certain) that it's your heart's desire to pass on the living words of God, Who is able to change lives.

Fight the fight, keep the faith...finish strong!

A day late but still not too late.

Happy Birthday, Greg.

...and so say all of us...and so say all of us...

(Thank God for time differences:-))

Happy Birthday Bro. Thanks for all that you do here. God has used you personally in my walk more than you will ever know. Thanks for all the "resistance" you gave me when we first met. Without that, I'd hate to think what I would be tolerating in my life now.
