Hey Hez,

What's goin on with you?

Have you considered going into the highways and byways,as you very well know that the harvest is plenteous and the laborers few!

You may do some good for others if you were face to face with the many faces who are out and about with needs for compassion.

Ministries like frontline ministries or Living Waters.

No man, when he hath lighted a candle, covereth it with a vessel, or putteth it under a bed; but setteth it on a candlestick, that they who enter in may see the light.

Dear brother,

That comment is uncalled for and is un-founded. The brother was just posting a good video about really what is going to become worse and worse. We are all called to be witness and also to be praying for the Church and all believers. Some of us are lacking greatly in the latter also.

Please in future comments let us edify each other and not accuse and tear each other down. The videos are quite alarming but we must face the fact we are at the end of the age and therefore must live like it.

yes witnessing is part of the obedience to the times we are living in.

I have not been called.

let me say that a little louder:

I HAVE NOT BEEN CALLED!....and I am not foolish to play games with God, because I fear God, and I've seen men in their foolish religious or humanistic ego, "go out there" IN THEIR WEAK AND PITIFUL FLESH...and "try to do something for God", as if the Master of the Universe, Yahweh, needs man, do anything "for" Him?

especially when said man, has NOT been called?

I've watched many men give sermons, soaked in religious pride, veritable "ten shekel and a shirt" hirelings, putting themselves "out there" to be seen.....say the doxology, and then head to the Denny's with the trustee's to plan the next "event".....not me.

and dear one, at one time in this life, I was a trained performer, professional, money making.....believe me, if I was a wicked foolish deceitful son of the dark, I could rent a tent, and go cross country with "revival meetings", and put on a show you would not believe, i'd weep, i'd moan, i'd shout, i'd shumbala mumbala to beat the band, and at the end of the evening, i'd be counting those buckets of money, huckstered out of the helpless hapless sheep of God.

But I love the Lord Jesus too much, mounting that Cross, shedding the Blood, and not only do I FEAR God...I know His Voice...and he has not Called me.

for some when they read the Word of God, its almost like an abstract, I can see that angel flying to Isaiah with the tongs and the fiery wood.

You don't KNOW me, God does....I destroyed my marriage....to my best friend, I was adulterous, we both were....aint a dog rug I haven't done....and you want me to go out there without a Call?

Every morning, i'm in the Word, and praying, and for the last two years, I've been overcome with Grief.....not human sorrow, Godly grief....lay on my face, over two years, weeping....knowing the Storm that's coming....so you want me to go out there....You?...without a Calling, and tell the people:

"ANNOUNCE YOURSELVES FOR BURIAL!! BECAUSE THIS LAND WILL BE SALTED WITH FIRE.....YOU'LL WATCH YOUR BABIES BURN LIKE A PORK ROAST IN NUCLEAR FIRE?!?"

or should I do this?

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ey1Z0VhAQdA>

is that what I should do?

My whole family is barely hanging on....I cant tell them, all I can do is ALWAYS be there with my limited resources just to get them thru another month, trusting in God, interceding for them.....healing things with the mother of my son, praying that she see me different and we re-marry, because for 15 years, I have known no other woman?

only a fleshling goes out into the harvest without a Call.

others of us, Wait on God, despite our weakness and failings, of which I have many.

don't think i'm angry with you, I love you, I just wish your exhortation would embrace wisdom a little bit more, which is ironic coming for somebody like me, in Jesus love, neil

God is no longer in control of the weather. Man is. While we were once protected from these atrocities, we have foolishly sent God "away" and Satan is having his way. They are able to steer storms in the same way that we steer our cars. Using the dual polarity Doppler Radar that we have blessed for our "protection," and the over 250,000 towers that we have begged to be installed for our convenience, as a means of fine tuning the whole mess. Consuming huge amounts of power that we have demanded to be harvested and kept for our comfort.

Oh how foolish we are, looking to ourselves when we need to be looking to God. Plotting and planning for our flesh when it is our spirit that is in such great need.

Re: - posted by TMK (), on: 2014/5/19 6:41

I seem to be the only one who ever tries to bring any balance to these types of posts; maybe that makes me a bad person- who knows.

But come on folks- this same video could have been made 75 years ago if we had the technology and likely 250 and 1000 years ago.

I was watching a program on The Weather Channel last night about the 10 worst tornado outbreaks in US history; over half were from over 50 years ago. If you look at historical weather archives many record temperatures (highs and lows) were set 100 years ago, 80 years ago, 70 years ago, 10 years ago etc. You get the point. And remember, we are now much more aware of the awesomeness of tornados etc because practically every person now has a video camera. If we had video of the Palm Sunday tornados in 1965 we would be just as horrified.

Floods, fires, famines, earthquakes, tornados, hurricanes, meteors, etc. have always been going on. When the Yellowstone volcano erupted long long ago the dust cloud enveloped and buried animals near the east coast.

The New Madrid earthquakes in 1811-1812 would have been absolutely devastating had they happened today- there just wasn't much population when they occurred.

If someone can explain to me how the events in the video are somehow a harbinger of something other than nature being nature, please share why, especially in light of what I posted above.

Greetings Neil

I wanted to say thanks for posting this. I know the burden on your heart to share these things and point them to JESUS. Storms are in deed coming, and not just the kind that show up on the radar. Things with Russia and China, the economy, the continued rebellion against GOD in this country, abortion, sexual immorality, it all points to things coming to a head. As Greg mentioned I believe these things will only increase as the days draw near. I feel a deep pressing on my heart every day to be praying, seeking GOD on behalf of the lost. To pray for those facing persecution around the world, and to pray that HIS own be encouraged and embolden to speak HIS WORDS and walk with HIM daily.

It is a very good reminder not to be afraid, as soldiers(prayer warriors) there are times when I can look out across this country of ours and tremble out of fear of what is to come and yet I am reminded to stand firm in HIM. To hold tight and know that these things must come to pass but HE has overcome the world! Our battle is not with flesh and blood but on our knees before KING JESUS! I rejoice in HIM that HE is here with me, I give thanks and praise HIM for giving me the strength and courage that I need to continue on in prayer, to share the light of JESUS with those HE gives me leading to.

Thank you again for sharing this with us here.

God bless

Something strange is going on in the world. But, whatever the world deems strange, perceives as strange, calls strange, we are exhorted to call for rejoicing and exultation. 1 Peter 4:12-13

I don't know if the weather is really, actually strange compared to weather in the past. I agree with TMK. But, nevertheless, many in the world perceive strangeness in it. The strangeness of the world that marks our time in any particular way is strangeness with Christian suffering. We are the strange. We are the odd. We are the ones who, because Jesus owns us and we obey Him, are rejected, insulted, and for some in many places, killed.

The weather seems odd to me. It is the coolest weather in May during the last week that I can remember in 47 years here in Alabama. But, let's not be distracted by it. Let us not be sidetracked by the events and phenomena of men and devils.

Let's press on in prayer, in serving, in telling this gospel of Christ, in love, in truth, in worship, in the Spirit of God.

No, there was a time when none of these things were going on. When man's heart was turned entirely unto God. Before man decided that he would be god. These things happen as a result of our sin. We prepare the way for them by our selfishness and greed and by running away from God because of fear of man, rather than running to God because of fear of being without God. We are to fear God, and not man.

I came across this picture this morning and thought I would share it here.

<http://www.usatoday.com/story/weather/2014/05/19/supercell-cloud-wyoming-basehunters/9294965/>

I realize it's probably not at all an unusual picture of a storm cloud for those who live in this part of the country but it was just such a reminder to me that storms are coming (are always coming) and to be in prayer. We are told in the WORD that time is short, with that in mind I can think of no better way to spending my time than in prayer for others, seeking JESUS daily, and living my life submitted unto HIM.

Regardless what you think of the weather, be it a harbinger of times to come or is it just nature doing what it always has, there is one thing that adverse weather conditions do and that is force people to consider God.

We live in tornado alley. Once again tornadoes took a similar path when they come a blowing through here. How normal is this? Happened again a few weeks ago in Winston Co., MS.

Or, how about this? Usually when a tornado hits the victims will go live with mamaw, auntie or son/daughter until another place is found to live. BUT what do you do when aunties house as well as mamaws and/or bubbas house have all been destroyed? Happened a few weeks ago in Louisville, MS. Never heard of this...Family lives in different sections of the town and all sections have been hit and destroyed...

Weird? Never heard this this before - and we live in tornado alley.

BUT...

People are thinking about God. They are talking about the futility of riches, about the fragility of houses, possessions; "naked came I out of the womb and naked will I return." Yup...this is the talk. And no judge can stop it, nor can any law officers arrest people for doing so.

The destruction is vast, mind boggling out at Louisville, MS. When I see it it seems to me that Someone who is in charge of the weather, the storms, puts little value on houses, trees, buildings, property and is not discriminating in destroying. Wealth, fancy houses are not spared - it is totally indiscriminate in its destruction.

Think there is a powerful lesson here. We do well to take lessons and listen to what God is telling us - working through nature to teach us.

PS: BTW, many have heard of the tornado that ripped through Tuscaloosa a few years ago - but do you know the distance between these towns is likely around 90 miles. I somehow suspect God is working to wake up the hardheadedness of the religious folks here. Too many times after the cleanup people go right back living for the devil like they always have. Revelation teaches us this - God sends calamities but the people did not repent...SAD.

Re: - posted by TMK (), on: 2014/5/20 9:30

Ginny I appreciate what you posted.

I know I come across as a jerk or an infidel because I dare to point out that there really is nothing strange about our current weather. That was the title of the OP and that simply is not a true statement.

That being said, of course bad weather does indeed happen. I have a wonderful book that belonged to my grandmother titled "The Mighty Whirlwind" by David Wagler. It is an account of the Palm Sunday tornadoes in 1965 and was written soon after the event. The book is chilling because it relies on many eyewitness accounts most of whom were Mennonites that were affected in one way or another. The book was published by a Mennonite publishing house I believe. The author may have been Mennonite but I am not sure about that.

But the overall theme of the book is pretty much what you stated.

If you can find a copy of the book online I highly recommend it.

Re: - posted by dolfan (), on: 2014/5/20 9:59

Ginny, I live in Moulton, AL. My next door neighbor has a second home (trying to sell the one next to me) in Louisville, MS. You referenced the Tuscaloosa tornado....that day, tornadoes swept through my home county about 7 miles north of my neighborhood. People were killed. And, weeks later, I was in Tuscaloosa and saw the decimation first hand. Never will I forget it. I went to Gulfport and Pass Christian, MS following Hurricane Katrina with a pastor buddy of mine to take some supplies to some Pentecostal pastors there. My eyes could not really believe what I saw.

In Louisville a few weeks ago, the Wednesday night before the tornado hit, an 8 year old boy gave his life to Christ, my unbelieving neighbor made a point of telling me. His whole family was killed with him in the storm.

I remember the popularity of Third Day's "Cry Out to Jesus" after Katrina. My own thoughts then, and now, are that these storms of such magnitude and destruction can be like God's finger (not saying they ARE) to scrape back all the things that we forge attachment to and dependence on. They can unveil our own helplessness that is the real us minus God. It is in these storms that Christ is magnified by His people greatly as they point to Him.

I do not know the reasons for storms or destruction. I don't contend that God executes judgment in any particular storm. Yet, they do reveal much about us before Him. In that sense, they do have a judging effect for which, as believers, we can be thankful and humbled by at the same time.

Re: - posted by MaryJane, on: 2014/5/20 10:00

Greetings Ginnyrose and TMK

Ginnyrose: thank you for sharing your thoughts here with us. I appreciate hearing what you had to say. Of course GOD does use these things and sadly you are right many go right on living for self never seeking HIM. My sister said to me the other day (we were speaking about my mother) she said, "I just don't know what its going to take to get her to reach that point in her life where there is no where left to turn to but JESUS."

TMK: I just wanted to write and say that I don't think you a jerk or an infidel because you express your opinion. :) I appreciate you sharing what the LORD is showing you. In this case I do not agree with your statement that the title was not true, to a good many people all around the world (both saved and unsaved) the current weather systems that are happening are unusual in both their severity, duration, and frequency. If you live through a one hundred year flood that happens three times in one winter, believe me that is unusual. If a super storm slams into the east coast less than a few hundred miles from your house with such severity that even the experts are not sure what to call it, that too is unusual. I am not saying JESUS is coming back tomorrow or next week or even next year but HE is coming and we are called to live like it will be in the next minute :) So for me if a strange weather pattern gets people looking to JESUS and thinking about eternity then praise GOD!

mj

Re: - posted by TMK (), on: 2014/5/20 14:30

Hi MJ--

Thank you for your kind words.

And I really hate to be a stickler on this topic, but I must insist that nothing strange is going on with the weather.

What had changed is that we have more "weather awareness" than ever before. Think of all the massive tornadoes that must have tore through the south and Midwest when only the plains, trees and animals were there to witness them.

I have a concern for the truth on topics like this. It is not enough to simply say that one perceives that the weather is getting worse. What matters is whether it truly is.

Like I said in my first post on page one of this thread there have been massive weather and earthquake and meteor events in long ago past that would make today's weather pale in comparison.

Weather patterns are cyclic. We have heavy hurricane years and light years etc. earthquakes happen when fault lines are strained.

We may be living very close in time to the Lords return and we may not be. But I don't think we can say with any sense of accuracy and context that the weather is getting worse and therefore the end is near. That is because the weather isn't getting worse at least when you step back and look at it in the context of history.

2 Peter 3:3,4

"Knowing this first, that there shall come in the last days scoffers, walking after their own lusts, and saying, Where is the promise of his coming? for since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation."

We are absolutely living in the last days. And those that keep close to Jesus in prayer know it. He could come back at any moment.

Re: - posted by TMK (), on: 2014/5/20 15:43

Drifter-

If you think I am a scoffer simply because I am telling the truth, then that is rather uncharitable of you.

By the way, Peter and Paul and John thought that THEY were living in the end times. And they were apostles for heaven's sake.

Re: - posted by HeartSong, on: 2014/5/20 23:35

There is actually something going on that is even more sinister than weather manipulation. There is a tsunami of sorts going on in our very homes. Technology has advanced to point that it is not difficult for someone outside of our homes to manipulate everything electronically within our homes - creating a tsunami of electromagnetic waves that are very harmful to our health. Our entire bodies run on tiny electromagnetic pulses sent to and from our brains, different parts of our bodies react to different frequencies. There are certain frequencies that are very destructive.

Of course, our cell phones are designed to send and receive radio frequencies. Actually, everything wireless is designed to send and receive frequencies. It is not a difficult thing for someone that has the know how to send a specific frequency through your cell phone, and you would not even know it because audible frequencies occupy a very small range of the frequency spectrum. There is a reason why our brains are "fuzzy," and we have trouble remembering things. There is a reason why so many of us are sick and dying.

Sister the reason is the fall; the curse; sin we inherited from Adam.

If you look back to reports from 100 - 200 years ago there was far more sickness and people died on average much younger than today. Read Briarnerd, Edwards, Whitfield, etc. Life expectancy is higher now than in previous generations (excepting pre-flood times)!

I know this kind of stuff goes on, but I think it's best not to mention it to most people because they have their heads stuck in the sand and they won't listen. People fear what they can't understand. And it's also probably a good idea not to get too concerned with this kind of thing or you'll end up wearing a tinfoil hat. Jesus is able to keep you safe from this stuff.

I have memory issues but I think a lot of it is because I was a drug addict for years and my brains are probably like scrambled eggs now.

Re: - posted by HeartSong, on: 2014/5/21 19:55

Dear drifter,

Well, the LORD is the only One that I know of that can unscramble eggs. But - if we continually do things to scramble them again, well, there you have it - more scrambled eggs.

The LORD blessed me, after my initial post, with a website that I have found to be most helpful. It contains enough information that the LORD had already given me for me to say that I highly recommend it to anyone that is interested in knowing what is being put upon us, and things that can be done to minimize the damage. However, I do not know anything about the patches or the machine that is mentioned.

The LORD has been keeping me safe as I have been totally inundated with harmful radiation. Four cell towers were erected within a half mile of my house, and a wind turbine was erected just two miles from my house. At one point, my whole house was resonating. The LORD had me to stand against the turbine and wireless companies - to bring forth truth to anyone that would hear. Gas lines were moved, electrical lines were installed, transformers were installed, trees were cut down, trains and sewer lines were used - chemicals were sprayed over my house, phone lines were manipulated, cars with "on-star" were parked around my house as I moved from room to room to avoid the new onslaught. At one point, about 50 flags were installed along the front of my property. And then there were all the things that were happening inside my house . . . it was crazy. And the LORD kept me through it all, and continues to protect me in my new location. When I first moved in to both my temporary, and current location, there were no problems. But slowly they mount as more and more things are tried. It is amazing what the enemy can come up with - but then it is even more amazing how the LORD can just walk us out of these situations if we will trust HIM. I must say, it is a lot easier to trust Him when we have no other choice.

Here is the name of the website: best-emf-health.com.

God bless you!

I saw this, too, but several weeks later. The helplessness that overwhelms my soul is unlike anything else I have ever seen. The destruction in Louisville is exactly like what I saw in Tuscaloosa. Massive - huge piles of torn, broken trees pile line MS HY14 going into town from the east plus all the houses destroyed...

Most helpless feeling...

I did not hear the story of the boy but that is encouraging in face of such massive wreckage.

There is one heart warming thing and that is the vast out-pouring of assistance that has come into the community from across the nation.

"Did you ever try to grow plants next to your wireless modem in your house? Doesn't go well. Can't be good for your brain either, methinks."

The radio frequencies turn the leaves of plants yellow. One day I was working in the backyard, pulling weeds. They turned the A/C on at the house to the North and to the South (my little rental house was sandwiched in between) I was working in the area where the waves of the two units met. Suddenly sweat just started pouring off of me (this was not the first time such a thing happened). When I moved to a different area of the yard, the sweating stopped. Later, when I resumed pulling weeds, I had no problem with sweating - until they turned the A/C units on again. They seem to have ways to know where I am at, both outside and inside. One of the ways is voice recognition of some sort, because when I talk or sing things happen around me. There is a change. Also when the dog barks, she will suddenly stop what she is doing and start vigorously scratching herself.

Back to the leaves. A day or so after working in the yard, I noticed some of the leaves on the trees around my yard had turned yellow - just the sides of the trees that faced my yard. There were a variety of tree types, but all of them near the area where I had been working had some yellow leaves. The same thing is happening to the trees, and bushes, and vines that surround the house where I am now living.

"Magnesium is found in the green pigments in the leaves of all plants in chlorophyll. Chlorophyll is an organic molecule o f carbon, hydrogen, nitrogen and in the middle there is an atom of magnesium, and it is chlorophyll which captures the sunlight and transfers it eventually to cause the reaction of carbon dioxide and water to make all the sugars and other things in the plant. If that didn't happen none of us would be alive, because we all rely either directly or indirectly on plants to give us the energy to live."

TMK, This is the testimony that the LORD had given me. If you have a problem with it, talk to Him. You will be held accountable to God for any, and all, that you turn away from truth. I have been born from above, and am filled with the Holy Spirit. If you are calling me a liar, you are calling Him a liar. And as we all know, all liars are of the devil.

I never called you a liar.

What exactly is the testimony The Lord has given to you? I have no idea what you are talking about unless you are saying that he has given you a testimony about fearing air conditioners.

Air conditioners do blow out hot air from the outside. Maybe that is why you were sweating.

"Air conditioners do blow out hot air from the outside. Maybe that is why you were sweating."

And then there is the opposite side of the coin. As I would move around in my house, sleeping from room to room to avoid the frequencies (it was a very big house) they would eventually "find" me - and one of the things that would happen was that all of the warmth was sucked away from me. It was not that I was just cold, but there was a total absence of heat. Normally when you are sleeping under the covers, there is a cocoon of heat around your body, but what I experienced was a total absence of heat. It was so cold that I could not even think to seek warmth. On one occasion I was awake when the cold came upon me (or the heat was sucked away). First I could hear frequencies. Shortly thereafter I could "feel" vibrations - it was a pulsing of sorts. And then came the icy cold. The next time I heard and felt it coming upon me, I was able to roll out of it before the cold came.

This only happened at the house that was near the antenna's and the wind turbine. As more and more antenna's and wind turbines are erected, the ability to affect a larger portion of the population is possible. Those that are willing to stand for truth will become a target - and those without the LORD will fall, and there will be no evidence as to what actually happened to them - kind of like all of the dead sea creatures that continue wash upon the shore line.

Dear sister if you really do feel strongly that the frequencies towers are affecting you physically which I know of other cases like this I would recommend for you to move to a new home if at all possible. I have read studies of people living close to cell towers with cancers and other problems.

May God guide you in Jesus Name.

Thank you dear brother. The LORD has graciously allowed me to move twice - but the problems, at least to some degree, can be accomplished using things other than cell towers. The LORD has been physically protecting me, just as He promised, but He has been allowing me to experience the things that are happening around me as He is teaching me about that which is to come.

Actually, the cancers and problems are caused by the whole wireless industry. Cell phones, routers, and many other electromagnetic devices included.

Here is an excellent report on the matter:

Do you think that someone (or some thing) is out to get you personally? The reason I ask is that you said you moved twice but "they" were still able to influence you.

Not everyone is sensitive to wireless waves received by cell phones, i am, the resulting headaches are real while sitting i n a group of chatting girls that are all busy with their little toys. The biggest headache I usally got was when I did use a c ell phone inside a car, it somehow intensified the pain.

This all started with the creation of the first cell phones when I used one at that time, while the excecutive branch manuf acturing them and their families didn't actually use them themselves, and they explained why in several interviews I've s een. Actually, everyone WILL be sensitive at some point if the exposure levels are as high as they currently are. The effect is cumulative, and damage is determined by the condition of your immune system - which is compromised by the radiation coming out of the cell phones, cell towers, electrical equipment, etc. The reason that your pain was intensified inside of t he car is because our vehicles are not grounded along with the fact that the signals tend to bounce around on the inside of the car. Additionally, newer vehicles have multiple antenna's built right into them so if you are using your phone (whic h is sending and receiving waves) along with your satellite radio (which is receiving waves) along with your directional d evice (which is sending and receiving waves) you have multiple waves crashing into each other all around you as you talk on your phone. This makes the effect even more harmful.

It is not just a matter of the phone heating up. There is also a non-ionizing effect that the cell phone companies are not talking about. If you check out your cell phone instruction book, you should find some kind of statement saying that the phones are not harmful if used as directed. Further back in the book, you should find a statement that says you should keep your phone about 12 inches away from your body as you are using it.

Another thing that seems to heighten the harmful effects of the frequencies is water. From what I understand, droplets of water are tiny dipoles that multiply the signal. I first noticed that this was a problem after taking a shower. While it was not hot in the bathroom, my face suddenly became very red and flushed. This was repeated several times before I figured out that it must be from the humidity in the room along with the droplets of water still on my body - that along with the microwave frequencies. It is the same way in a microwave oven. Wet things heat up faster.

One day I was spray washing my car at the car wash right across the street from a cell tower. I really didn't think about the tower being there, but as I was drying off my car, I suddenly began to feel light headed. I thought it was just from bending over, but it became worse at a very fast pace and I began to have trouble thinking. It was then that I remembered the cell tower across the street. I was only at the car wash for about 5 minutes, but it took hours for my head to clear.

Edit: There is one more thing required for the microwave effect, which I hesitate to bring up, but the LORD will not let it drop. There needs to be a power source. In the bathroom they tap into the vanity light. You can hear it being done - there is a slight "click." It is after the click that my face becomes red. If I shower with the lights off, I do not have a problem.

The radio frequencies turn the leaves of plants yellow. One day I was working in the backyard, pulling weeds. They turned the A/C on at the house to the North and to the South (my little rental house was sandwiched in between) I was working in the area where the waves of the two units met. Suddenly sweat just started pouring off of me (this was not the first time such a thing happened). When I moved to a different area of the yard, the sweating stopped. Later, when I resumed pulling weeds, I had no problem with sweating - until they turned the A/C units on again. They seem to have ways to know where I am at, both outside and inside. One of the ways is voice recognition of some sort, because when I talk or sing things happen around me. There is a change. Also when the dog barks, she will suddenly stop what she is doing and stand rt vigorously scratching herself.

the above that you wrote sounds exactly like a form of parnoied sckitsofrena ,,,,,,

Of course it is demons. They work through men just as Jesus works through Christians. It is Christ in us, the hope of glor y and those that are not filled with the Holy Spirit are filled with demons - and demons hate Christians.

I wonder how much of the trouble in the world is due to all of these electromagnetic waves that we are sending through t he air. If we send them, does that give Satan the right to use them to his advantage?

"And you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins; Wherein in time past ye walked according to the co urse of this world, according to the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that now worketh in the children of disobedienc e: Among whom also we all had our conversation in times past in the lusts of our flesh, fulfilling the desires of the flesh and of the mind; and were by nature the children of wrath, even as others." - Ephesians 2:1-3 (KJV)

On another note, might I suggest that you share the gospel of Jesus Christ with your mother and cousin?

God bless you too.

Most would never hear the click because their lives are filled with so much noise. The draw of energy is also used in weather modification. If you watch the radar loops, and look for the source of the sudden rising of a "hot spot," you will find that it is often over an energy source. The "hot spot" will linger over the energy source for a short period of time, and then move off like a normal storm cloud.

Words are very powerful. Everything that we read, and hear, becomes a part of who we are. While we may not initially see the difference, eventually that which we have taken in will become a part of our heart and will manifest itself in our words.

It is similar to that which we choose to eat. We can not really see the difference at first, but it will eventually show up in the condition of our heart. It is best to avoid that which is known to be unhealthy.

All the science is not in on this, but there is a notable population who are sensitive to various forms of radiation and radio transmissions. An expert I am not, but it is interesting that the little town of Green Bank West Virginia has become a haven for folks with the sensitivity- real or imagined.

Green Bank does not allow wireless technology, no wifi hotspots, no cell phones. I expect the local handbook has a complete guide to smoke signal interpretation, but I haven't checked that out.

I have no plans to move there, or prevent anyone else from doing so.

Well, when it is happening to you, scientific opinion is of little consequence - other than it keeps those that could possibly help, from lending a hand to those that could really use the help. Actually, I think the scientific community is already aware of the dangers of the wrong kinds of electromagnetic radiation and wireless technology because cell towers, wind turbines, electrical substations and industrial plants are generally located in, or near, the less affluent areas of town. If these things were harmless this would not be the case. The LORD has laid it upon my heart time, and time again, that we who call ourselves His, have a responsibility to defend the poor. Additionally, if that which we do, or use, harms the poor - well, it is the same as justifying the wicked.

Dear sister, is a Christian sinning when they make a cellphone call, in your estimation?

-----Dear sister, is a Christian sinning when they make a cellphone call, in your estimation?

Dear brother, you do not know how much I would rather not say this, for I know that almost everything around us is hinged upon wireless technology, and the accumulation of energy, but the answer is yes. The LORD has had me in tears over this often. I have asked Him, and I continue to ask Him, to tear down and uproot all of these things that are killing His children - both physically, and spiritually. To show His people the result of the choices that we are making.

He has not called us to convenience. He has called us to bear witness of His Son. We do not need cell phones, the internet, or even electricity to do this. I still have some of these things in my life, but only on a limited basis. The LORD has shown me that I do not need these things as I have had to power down my whole house to bring the frequencies down to a reasonable level. I continue to have to unplug my refrigerator at night, and as such, only store a limited number of things in it. I only turn my heat and air conditioner on enough to make the temperature in my house tolerable. The winter before last, in Iowa, I had to have the gas turned off because it was causing problems with the frequencies and there was no shut off valve in the house. I managed through the winter by using a small wood stove in the kitchen and a space heater in the bathroom. Blessedly, I am learning these things as they come along, but how could we manage if they were su uddenly all ripped away at once? Only those with a deep faith in the LORD will be able to survive, and survive we must for it is then that the people will hear of the saving grace of our LORD Jesus Christ.

Forgive me for rambling about, but there is so much to tell that it is hard to know where to begin or end.

Well, I am praying that that will change so they will not have to go through what I have gone through. What is really distressing is to see mothers handing their cell phone to their children to appease them. Granted, they do not know the dangers - that radio frequency is particularly harmful to young developing brains and bodies - but the children just love the phones and most will throw a fit if they do not get them. But then, they are only wanting to mimic their parents which is what the LORD designed them to do. It is also distressing to see cell towers in school yards and amusement parks. The closer the phones and ipads are to the source (cell tower) the more damaging the signal. And then there is the grant money being used to upgrade the schools computers etc. to the latest technology...

New study links over 7,000 cancer deaths to cell phone tower radiation exposures

http://www.naturalnews.com/040905_cell_phone_towers_radiation_cancer.html

Is the Brazilian study an isolated study?

quote: "Cell phone tower studies which examined the relationship between radiation exposure and cancer rates were conducted in the city of San Francisco in addition to cities in Austria, Germany, and Israel, dating as far back as the 1970s. All the studies shared similar findings: living within a certain proximity to a cell phone tower increased the risk of cancer anywhere from two to 121 times depending on what type of cancer was detected."

Of course that is not mainstream news, that would rock too many chairs of interest. And the status quo of compromised fact gathering of people that never research anything for themselves. Like they said in Germany in the 1930's: "It is not true, because it simply cannot be true."

This thread reminds me partially about the time when tobacco smoking was still socially accepted, and not an obvious health hazard. The tobacco industry's propanda was still shaping the minds of consumers and non-consumers alike, they had their audience under tight mind control for quite a while, and the naysayers were obviously 'haunted by demons'. Until that day when the farce just collapsed on them via evidence that just piled up and eroded their self-serving fantasies.

All repeats itself, and most people still have no independent access to truth, they still swim with the mainstream and decided to spend part of their life to 'rescue the dissidents'. That's funny in a way, sad in other ways, and that feeling prevails, because the captives are still being held captive.

Tin foil hats!!!, on: 2014/5/26 10:15

This thread reminds me about a church I encountered back in the 80's in Australia. The pastor was a zealous young man but it seems he allowed a woman into leadership who had some unconventional ideas about radiation and "rays" that were affecting christians. I kid you not, this is a true story. As time went on he allowed this woman more and more access to him and shut almost everyone else out. Eventually she convinced him that the urges he was feeling were from "homosexual rays" or as we as kids in Australia would call them, "poofter rays". According to this woman these "rays" were beamed down from demons who lived on the moon. She said that the demons had the ability to weaponise lust into invisible radiation and direct it at christians to cause them to sin.

So guess what ended up happening? This little charismatic church which by the way was heavily into "intercessory prayer meetings", decided that the only way to protect themselves from these rays was to make tin-foil hats!!! Yep, that's where it ended up going. A small group of christians sitting around making aluminum foil hats so that their pastor and others would not become full fledged, flaming homosexuals.

As you can well imagine, this did not end well. The foil hats obviously did not work and the "demon aliens on the moon" were able to entice the pastor into homosexuality and he "came out"...tin hat and all!!!

And you thought this stuff only happened in America!

Well, we do have satellites beaming down plenty of pornographic images that entangle more than a few Christians. And the men that propagate these images are clearly filled with demons.

While Satan can put a lustful thought in our mind, he can do a lot more damage if he has a good image to go along with it. Additionally, a feeling of lust can be raised up using a certain frequency, which I am sure the pornographic industry takes full advantage of.

Our whole bodies are run by tiny electromagnetic pulses sent to and from our brains. It is an amazing thing that the LORD has done. We are wonderfully made, but we are introducing outside forces that are very destructive to God's original design.

The problem with this wireless technology is that it actually can be used for mind control. I have read of a case where a specific frequency was broadcast over an entire community to determine how many would be affected. There is a specific frequency that causes depression, fear, apathy etc.

There have been three instances that I observed where my husband has been influenced by his cell phone. One time it was confusion - he could not understand what I was trying to tell him (above and beyond the normal male/female thing). Another time he was acting like a zombie (totally unresponsive to what was happening around him). And the third time it was road rage. All three times these things came upon him suddenly, and all three times the problem immediately dissipated when the phone was removed.

As for me, I do not have a cell phone. Before all this started, the LORD made it clear that He did not want me to have one. Additionally, he would not let me use the cordless phone that I had (it turns out that these are even worse than cell phones because you have both the antenna and the receiver in the house with you). When I am hit with high frequency levels it makes it extremely hard to think. It also causes my dog, who is usually at my feet, great distress.

"And GOD saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually." Genesis 6:5

So in Noah's day did they have cell phones, satellites, radio waves and even electricity? What was their excuse?

Re: regarding electricity - posted by Sidewalk (), on: 2014/5/26 21:17

Heartsong has not gathered much sympathy here, and I wonder if we are confusing the difference between sin and radiation sensitivity?

Paul told his readers that they were free to eat pretty much anything that was received with thanksgiving, and dismissed the refusal to eat meat offered to idols as unnecessary. EXCEPT that if one's hosts were to tell you that the meat had been offered to an idol, that knowledge changed the moral dynamics. That meat was not to be eaten, but only for conscience sake. It was important not to carelessly damage the sensibilities of someone for whom this was a major issue.

So likewise, to be in Heartsong's presence I would feel morally compelled to refrain from using my cell phone or i-pad, or doing anything else that might exacerbate her radiologic symptoms or display a callousness toward a precious sister.

Just as the use of alcohol in Christian venues changes according to the region in which you find yourself, so it is with any practice which might weaken or damage another Christian. Part of becoming all things to all men, mature Christians moderate their behavior and appetites in deference to others- this should be no burden as it should be a pleasure to be a demonstration of Christ wherever we are.

So the use of a cell phone is not in itself a sin, but knowingly using one in Heartsong's close vicinity is!

Christ's honor always trumps my inconvenience!

Re: Tin foil hats!!!, on: 2014/5/26 21:51

if I had ever thought, this thread would careen so wildly, I NEVER would have made the original post, which was a posting from brother "Jason A's" youtube channel.

This dear brother "collects" newscasts of "signs of the age". I realize there are very disturbing and frightening trends gathering strength, seemingly to zero in, on each and every of us, and those we love.

but like everything that spews forth from the maw of the devil, and the spirit of anti-Christ, who have come into the world, it's a lie.

God loves us, All Powerful, All Knowing, Full of Grace, Mercy, Tenderness, and FAITHFULNESS. THE LORD and Messiah Jesus are Holy and Pure, the Righteousness of Righteousness, Omnipotent, and He has blessed us with His Holy Spirit to live IN us.

Yes, sometimes we fear while in these jars of clay, but we are NOT GIVEN.....TO...a spirit of fear. Like The Psalmist testified, in Truth, we can hide under the Wings of God.

When you go thru the Holy Word of The Psalms, you'll keep seeing four words, attributes, used again and again:

"Steadfast love and Faithless"....THIS is our Father God...our Jesus, so that when you feel the world, the flesh and devil, vexing you, assailing you....just ponder those attributes:

"Steadfast Love and Faithfulness"...if you have to.....over and over again...not like some goofy new age mantra, banish THAT thought, but as the Reality of a Loving Merciful God....Who is YOUR Father, Holy and Majestic, who Joy it is to display in all seeking souls....US....His Steadfast Love and Faithfulness.

and in final loving exhortation and ANY comfort I can bring to the "table", bury this precious portion of Hebrews in your hearts, you redeemed of Christ;

"Therefore, holy brothers, you who share in a heavenly calling, consider Jesus, the apostle and high priest of our confession," Hebrews 3:1

Consider Jesus...when in fear, reach for His Hand.

Relax, Neil, and thank you for your always gracious thoughts!

"Had I known the thread would careen wildly..." I love that, yes it is like a top-heavy lorry without brakes on a mountain road, but maybe that's what keeps it always interesting, drawing out the postings we would never see if it only produced yawns!

Tin foil hats? Hey, whatever works! Some people have been known to hear radio broadcasts in their metal tooth fillings!

Wonder if the beer commercials make them thirsty??

Quote:"The problem with this wireless technology is that it actually can be used for mind control."

I know, but this is one or two step too far for this discussion. We are still on the floor to establish that waves can influence body cells. That seems like fiction to most here.

Additionally the whole cell towers project is an official essential to completely map any area in any city in the world to identify your location at any time. Comes pretty handy in the upcoming cashless society and the 'new order' of total control. The additional benefit that you can communicate with it is just an appetizer, that's not the main function of the towers.

"As for me, I do not have a cell phone. Before all this started, the LORD made it clear that He did not want me to have one. " ditto, it's really as simple as that. My sensitivity for it came first, THEN I read about it, wondering what's going on.

When God does not give you a sensitivity for fire, you will walk into it, and most likely get burned, while you happily discuss the imaginary reality of fire in the life of 'tin foil' people.

In an attempt to get off this electricity-does-work-on-bodycells talk, I just discovered what the original topic was here, it's actually "strange weather around the world". Hey did you know that not only planet earth is heating up at the moment, ALL planets in our solar system are heating up right now. Something the "climate change" people will not tell you. But a private investigator has, listen to his recent radio interviews and don't forget to put on your tin foils hahaha: <http://bobfletcherinvestigations.com/> interesting in one regard: Once you can establish that ALL planets including the sun are heating up, the source of influence ce is not what we do on planet earth, pretty simple.

"Heartsong has not gathered much sympathy here..."

I think she has gathered a ton... quite frankly more than i would have imagined..

There is s time for sympathy and a time for being honest with someone.

I would recommend strongly that greg or one of the other moderators lock this thread.

Like i said earlier this is not the Art Bell forum.

I second that motion and as the original poster, hope that carries a little weight.

Dear Sidewalk,

I do appreciate your kind words, but it is not as simple as that. The cell towers, which the phones utilize, are killing people.

MaryJane, this is not something that is easily understood. The LORD has given this to me piece by piece, and often I have had to be taken through things more than a few times in order to "get it." Additionally, I still have missing pieces as some things are not easy to swallow.

-----if I had ever thought, this thread would careen so wildly, I NEVER would have made the original post, which was a posting from brother "Jason A's" youtube channel.

HezWelling, dear brother, if you feel that I have stolen your thread, let me know and I will bow out. It seemed to me that what you posted opened the door for me to bring forth some of the things that the LORD has had on my heart for some time. The technology for weather manipulation, and what has been happening to me are one, and the same.

I hear you bro...this certainly has been one of the more "interesting" threads I have seen in a long time...there are just so ooooo many things I want to say...sigh:)

Re: - posted by a-servant, on: 2014/5/27 6:37

I dont hear you, what does a "scared Jesus" mean outside of Texas? And what does that imaginary expression have to do with anything that anyone that contributed to these last few pages has said?

Another quote: "here are just soooooo many things I want to say" well, you came to the right place, it's a discussion forum, so we dont hint at things we want to say, we just say it. On topi c, whenever possible. It's not too much to ask for, or is it?

Probably just some brain damage made me say this, due to way to much cell phone use. Can you please forgive me? it' s not my fault.
