And it came to pass in the morning, that Jonathan went out into the field at the time appointed with David, and a little lad with him. And he said unto his lad, Run, find out now the arrows which I shoot. And as the lad ran, he shot an arrow beyond him. And when the lad was come to the place of the arrow which Jonathan had shot, Jonathan cried after the lad, and said, Is not the arrow beyond thee? And Jonathan cried after the lad, Make speed, haste, stay not. And Jonathan's lad gathered up the arrows, and came to his master (1 Samuel 20:35-38).

Consider for a moment David's journey leading up to this difficult point in his life. It must have seemed an ordinary day as he tended his father's sheep out in the field. All of a sudden he was called inside to meet with the prophet Samuel, who took a vial of oil and anointed David to be the next king of Israel. Before taking the throne, David began to win some marvelous victories in secret, followed by an incredible victory in public against a giant called Goliath. David's heart must have burned within him as he walked in an anointing that produced such faith and boldness in his life.

Shortly after, Saul took David in as his attendant, and David began to worship the Lord with songs that drove the darkness out of Saul's life. David continued to fight the battles of the Lord, all the while experiencing the supernatural power of God, as seemingly no enemy could stand against him. Eventually, however, Saul's heart turned against David for no apparent reason other than envy—which brings us to our passage in 1 Samuel. Saul's son, Jonathan, says to David, "I am going to talk to my father. Hide out in the field, and I will come back and shoot an arrow. If I say to the lad with me, 'The arrow is beyond you,' that means you must flee, for harm is determined against you." Here is how I see this situation: God was trying to speak to David, but David was only partially listening. The Lord was telling him, "I have a plan for your life that will fulfill all the desires I have placed in your heart. A transition is coming from a system that failed under Saul's leadership to something that will usher in a season of renewal in Israel, and you are going to lead it. But until that day comes, I am going to take you through some dark places. You must follow Me through these mountains and valleys—even though you will not be able to understand them fully."

That is what I believe to be the deeper meaning behind "the arrow is beyond you." It is a sign and a reminder from God that His ways are higher than ours, and all He asks is that we follow Him!

He teaches us to walk in the darkness as if it were light.

"This then is the message which we have heard of him, and declare unto you, that God is light, and in him is no darkness at all.

If we say that we have fellowship with him, and walk in darkness, we lie, and do not the truth: But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin." - 1 John 1:5-7

What I wrote in the previous post seems to contradict these verses, yet when I try to reword what I have written, nothing comes forth, except maybe:

"He teaches us to walk amongst the darkness as if it were light."
