Former Mars Hill Bible Church pastor and best-selling author Rob Bell told media mogul Oprah Winfrey on Sunday that the American church is "moments away" from embracing gay marriage and thinks "it's inevitable."

Bell made the statement during a Valentine's weekend episode of Winfrey's "Super Soul Sunday" television show where he appeared with his wife, Kristen, to discuss marriage and their new book, The ZimZum of Love: A New Way of Understanding Marriage.

I agree with Rob Bell. Not that I like it but given the speed with which the modern church has caved in it is no surprise.

Years ago one homo questioned the church's reluctance to accepting it based on the fact how it was accepting of divorce and remarriage. Yup...it figures.
