Leonard Ravenhill's Son Has an Idea for How Creflo Dollar Can Get a $65M Private Jet - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2015/3/31 11:00 AM

I've been thinking about Creflo Dollar's dream to upgrade his ailing jet for something better, much better, in fact. I hate to see this 'man of God' having to travel by way of a commercial airline, like the rest of us mere mortals.

Jesus borrowed a womb to be born, a boat to preach from, a donkey to ride on and a boy's lunch to feed the multitude, not to mention a room for the Last Supper, etc. Aside from that, we are told "the Son of Man had nowhere to lay His head."

But that was then and this is now!

I just can't picture Creflo on a donkey, not when he is accustomed to driving around in his Rolls-Royce or Bentley or one of his other luxury cars. Which brings me back to how he can make his dream a reality.

The solution to his problem is simple. I can't believe he hasn't thought of it himself. He just needs to practice what he preaches. Since he is a staunch advocate of the seed faith message, all he needs to do is enclose a check for thirty dollars in his next mailing to each of his seed-faith partners; then stand back and watch as the money begins pouring in. After all, as the saying goes, 'What's good for the goose is good for the gander.' If this is a spiritual principle that works for every one, then why doesn't he practice what he repeatedly tells his faithful flock every week? With only a 10-fold increase he would receive $300 for every $30 he sows. That being the case, why not enclose $300 to every partner and do away with the little jet in favor of the Boeing of his choice? He could then outfit his big boy jet to accommodate his Bentley or Rolls. In that way, he doesn't have to stoop to renting a Ford or Chevy when he arrives to wherever he's going.

I understand his net worth is around $27 million. Not bad for a man who has learned how to fleece the flock and live high on the hog. Perhaps it's time for him to sell all that he has and give to the poor. In that way when he gets to heaven he'll have some treasure waiting for him. Then again he could sow his $20+ million and reap a 30, 60 or a 100-fold increase and be well on his way to becoming a billionaire.

Incidentally this principle will work for all televangelists that preach the seed faith message. I just don't understand why it only applies to us givers and not the receivers.

As for me, I'm happy flying in coach; it sure beats walking!

That is a brilliant idea!

It would give him a chance to demonstrate how his teaching works in the real world.

I'm thankful for his solution for the private jet, but even more thankful that he is cut from the same cloth as his dad, we need more of them.
