A Hindu extremist leader in India has called on Christians and Muslims in the country to be forcefully sterilized in order to control their growing populations, and called for Hindu gods and goddesses to be placed in churches and mosques.

"The population of Muslims and Christians is growing day by day. To rein in this, Centre will have to impose emergency, and Muslims and Christians will have to be forced to undergo sterilization so that they cannot increase their number," said Sadhvi Deva Thakur, vice president of All India Hindu Mahasabha, according to Fides News Agency.

Thakur called on Hindus to have more children to increase their population, and said that "idols of Hindu gods and goddesses should be placed in mosques and churches."

Christians and other religious minorities have faced persecution in India, with churches reporting a number of attacks in the past several months. ...

Do you think that on April 25th 2015 God had the last say in the above issue?
Don't know for sure, but I'm thinking He did.

The person who has given this statement is not a known personality. It is just one of many existing Hindu extremists group. All such extremists group got some fresh energy and are no longer afraid of Law and Order as the country is ruled by Hindu Extremist government. The party ruling India Currently is so much against minority religions. They have somehow made an alliance with Muslim parties to gain control over Muslim dominated areas. Hence they now attack only Christians, because they are soft targets.

We can only pray for this nation. The situation is still not very bad but can soon become bad. The ruling party is trying to project an image as if they are saviors of the Majority Hindus by attacking Churches and Christians.
