

Articles and Sermons :: The most important David Wilkerson Sermon on SI.*The most important David Wilkerson Sermon on SI., on: 2015/10/23 9:16

The most important David Wilkerson Sermon on SI.

In my opinion The message BEWARE OF DOGS is the best sermon He has preached.

Now if someone thinks they know a better one, please let me know

Greg posts articles by David Wilkerson here often.

This message is listed twice here on Si

<https://www.sermonindex.net/modules/mydownloads/singlefile.php?lid=3569&commentView=itemComments>

And

http://ia600703.us.archive.org/0/items/SERMONINDEX_SID4327/SID4327.mp3

The last 27 minutes of the message are transcribed here on SI.

https://www.sermonindex.net/modules/newbb/viewtopic.php?topic_id=55401&forum=34

I know of no other message that can bring true Revival than this one. Please take time to listen to this message at least once. And tell others about it.

I would like to hear any testimonies on how this message has affected you.

Re: The most important David Wilkerson Sermon on SI. - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2015/10/24 1:03

Thanks brother for bringing this message up to our attention.

Re: The most important David Wilkerson Sermon on SI., on: 2015/10/25 17:58

I was hoping that a least one person would make some kind of remark. Did anyone listen to this message?

Re: , on: 2015/10/25 19:44

tuc,

I will listen to it, but it will have to wait about a day or so.

J

Re: The most important David Wilkerson Sermon on SI. - posted by Jeremy221, on: 2015/10/25 22:31

I listened to it twice. Wilkerson's connection between the judeaizers and dogs is a very strong point for all of us. In recent weeks I have met a few people I can see who entered by grace but turned to works. At least one has fallen away as a result of this being unable to live the holy life he knows his called to live.

Re: - posted by mama27, on: 2015/10/26 0:28

I listened to it....twice. Trying to get to where I need to be...still digesting it. Maybe others are too, which is why they did n't comment.

I listened to more than three times, on: 2015/10/26 8:19

It does take awhile to digest it because the truth of the New Covenant is Shocking because it goes against a lot that we have believed and have been taught in the past.

Re: I listened to more than three times - posted by mama27, on: 2015/10/26 11:22

Maybe even harder for those of us who have a "doing/achieving" kind of personality....I know that is nothing in God's economy....very hard to overcome decades of habit patterns and thinking. Thank you very much for sharing this message. I have great respect for David Wilkerson in the messages I have heard.

Re: the New Covenant is the ONLY WAY to break free from the power and dominion of sin, on: 2015/10/26 12:06

Here is what David Wilkerson wrote concerning the POWER of the New Covenant

The Body of Jesus Christ today desperately needs a fresh unveiling of God's New Covenant. We need it because our generation is living in a time of powerful demonic seductions. Jesus warned that such days would come days in which Satan would attempt to deceive even the elect of God. Today we are seeing Jesus' words come to pass, as humankind faces an overwhelming flood of temptations unknown to any past generation.

The devil appears to have taken control of much of the media. Less than a century ago, there was no such thing as television, the Internet or videos. The airwaves were not polluted then, but today the atmosphere is saturated with devilish filth, as satellites beam pornography to homes all over the world. The technological advances meant to improve our lives have opened wide the floodgates of evil, and society is being inundated by seductions that are coming upon us with a ferocity we have never seen. Satan is using virtually every form of media to feed dormant lusts, encourage promiscuity and destroy every semblance of morality. In the process he is breaking up homes and marriages.

Tragically, many Christians are being swept up in this demonic web of sensuality. Believers who have flirted with secret sins now find themselves in a battle for their souls. Our ministry receives thousands of letters each week, many from distraught believers who describe being trapped in sinful bondages. They tell us of life-controlling habits in their own lives and in the lives of loved ones habits such as drugs, alcohol, smoking, pornography, adultery, fornication, homosexuality, gambling, bitterness, anger, covetousness and stealing. Yet, no matter what their struggle, all of these people have this in common: They are bound, snared in slavery by a besetting sin. They feel chained, unable to break free from sin's power.

Many of these dear people sincerely love Jesus. They have prayed diligently, cried a river of tears and sought counseling from pastors and friends, yet nothing seems to free them. They always end up going back to their sin, and their heavy burden of guilt only increases with time.

Many such Christians have concluded they can never be free from their sin. They think they will never be able to move out of the bondage of flesh Paul describes in Romans 7. In this bondage, Paul says, a person does what he hates, with no power to do what is right. He is unable to move into the spiritual freedom Paul outlines so joyously in Romans 8, where power over the dominion of sin is revealed. In the bound person's eyes, there is no escape from the wretchedness of always doing what he despises. So he has resigned himself to struggling for the rest of his life riding the unending merry-go-round of sinning and confessing, sinning and confessing. Yet, all the while, he continues to testify of God's power to set others free.

The New Covenant has nothing to offer those who are at peace with their sin but it promises great hope to those who hate their sin. If you are a believer who hates your sin if you still grieve over your bondage to a habitual lust; if you cry out to the Lord to deliver you from Satan's snare; if you feel helpless, weak, despondent over your lack of power - I have good news for you. The New Covenant provides for your absolute freedom. Our Lord has made available to you not only pardon for all sin and its guilt, but also liberty from and dominion over all bondage. These wonderful things are available to you through the glorious provisions of the New Covenant.

The provisions of the New Covenant set us free from the power of sin and deliver us into the Spirit of life. We do not have to do the devil's bidding anymore, because by covenant God has promised to empower us to win over all temptations and lusts. All indwelling sin can be stripped of its dominion through the power of the indwelling Holy Spirit.

In my later years, I have concluded that laying hold of the New Covenant is the ONLY WAY to break free from the power and dominion of sin. I hope to show you in this book how that glorious work takes place. Yet the unveiling of the New Covenant is not something within my power or ability to do. Only the Holy Spirit can open up its marvelous truths to the see ker. I can, however, assure all who are discouraged by their lack of victory over a besetting sin that this book can open your eyes to the incredible promises and provisions God has given to all who intensely yearn for freedom from sin's dominion. May the Holy Spirit unveil the glory and power of the New Covenant to every seeker who desires to walk in holiness and peace.

Re: The most important David Wilkerson Sermon on SI. - posted by proudpapa, on: 2015/10/26 18:00

RE: The most important David Wilkerson Sermon on SI.///

It is my favorite of Wilkersons.

It can also be found under the title :

The Key to Understanding Righteousness

<https://www.sermonindex.net/modules/mydownloads/singlefile.php?lid=4531&commentView=itemComments>

It is also in the Video section.

Re: , on: 2015/10/26 23:18

I don't think there is such a thing as a "most important Sermon " Jesus always had the right words at the right time, for the right people.

We need the help of the HS for that.

The Pharisees needed a different message than the woman at the well and we know how angry He got in the temple with the money changers etc.

As new believers we needed "milk" then some more solid food.

We are also told to : "reprove, rebuke, exhort, with great patience and instruction" 2 Timothy 4:2

When I first discovered that there are some very godly sermons on the internet, I had a "favorite " preacher, but later I discovered that many different godly preachers often complement each other I get a more balanced message.

Most importantly I have come to realize that , in this modern age of technology, nothing is more important than to re-discover personal Bible reading and spend time with God.

This might not be an "important sermon " ;) ;) thought I might share it anyway

Re: , on: 2015/10/26 23:41

Good point, markuskiwi.

I have had different messages from the Lord through the years that seemed like the most important message I had ever heard at the time. I expect to hear more of them.

This one is a very important message.

The Hope of Israel

<http://www.messianicgoodnews.org/hope-of-israel-philip-mauro/>

Re: - posted by JFW (), on: 2015/10/26 23:45

Well said brother+:)

Re: , on: 2015/10/26 23:56

Quote:

-----by JFW on 2015/10/26 23:45:09

Well said brother+):

:-) Bless you, bro.

Re: - posted by Oracio (), on: 2015/10/27 0:34

Quote:

-----Tragically, many Christians are being swept up in this demonic web of sensuality. Believers who have flirted with secret sins now find themselves in a battle for their souls. Our ministry receives thousands of letters each week, many from distraught believers who describe being trapped in sinful bondages. They tell us of life-controlling habits in their own lives and in the lives of loved ones habits such as drugs, alcohol, smoking, pornography, adultery, fornication, homosexuality, gambling, bitterness, anger, covetousness and stealing. Yet, no matter what their struggle, all of these people have this in common: They are bound, snared in slavery by a besetting sin. They feel chained, unable to break free from sin's power.

Many of these dear people sincerely love Jesus. They have prayed diligently, cried a river of tears and sought counseling from pastors and friends, yet nothing seems to free them. They always end up going back to their sin, and their heavy burden of guilt only increases with time.

I think I'll have to respectfully disagree with those two paragraphs. To me they seem to fly in the face of the many Scriptures which speak of guaranteed victory over sin for every blood-bought child of God. I'm not referring to sinless perfection because I do believe that Scripture affirms that every true believer will struggle with sin to a certain extent while in these bodies on this earth. But again, Scriptures such as 2nd Cor. 5:17 "If ANY man is in Christ he is a NEW creation", Rom. 6:14 "For sin shall NOT have dominion over you", and 1 John 3:9 "NO ONE who is born of God will continue to sin" teach that all true believers will generally experience victory over sin. If the Holy Spirit lives inside of us He will convict us of our sins and we will mourn over them and confess them to God and cry out to Him for deliverance from them, and He will deliver us. Yes, a true believer can struggle with certain serious vices at times but they cannot remain in bondage to those vices very long because God will chastise them one way or another and they will repent and gain the victory over them

.

My concern is with giving the impression that true believers can remain in bondage to any and all types of serious sins. Again, that contradicts many clear Scriptures. It's kinda like saying that a bank robber can get saved and remain a bank robber, or that a prostitute can get saved and remain a prostitute, or that a terrorist can get saved and remain a terrorist. That's ridiculous, right? That kind of message has been the cause of deceiving multitudes of false converts. I come across many of them all the time as I witness on the streets. For example, I've seen thugs who are still dealing their drugs and committing other serious sins and crimes say they are saved because at one point they "accepted Jesus as their Savior". Let's remember, Jesus warned that not everyone who calls Him Lord will enter heaven, but only those who do God's will will enter.

Quote:

-----Many such Christians have concluded they can never be free from their sin. They think they will never be able to move out of the bondage of flesh Paul describes in Romans 7. In this bondage, Paul says, a person does what he hates, with no power to do what is right. He is unable to move into the spiritual freedom Paul outlines so joyously in Romans 8, where power over the dominion of sin is revealed. In the bound person's eyes, there is no escape from the wretchedness of always doing what he despises. So he has resigned himself to struggling for the rest of his life riding the unending merry-go-round of sinning and confessing, sinning and confessing. Yet, all the while, he continues to testify of God's power to set others free.

Again I'll have to respectfully disagree with that interpretation of Romans 7. I don't think Paul meant to say there that he was in bondage to certain sins like fornication, drugs, alcohol, etc. I do believe that Paul was referring to the inner struggle with sin that every Christian experiences. But that's different from saying that true believers can remain in serious bondage to serious sins as a lifestyle.

Re: Oracio and markuskiwi, on: 2015/10/27 7:15

Please note that what I posted was written by David Wilkerson. This is his writing - I just posted it.

Did you listen to the message?

markuskiwi - Did you listen to the message?