Has anyone else heard about this or am I just late coming to the party?

Story of Yitzhak Kaduri

"Though not all of those Jews who come to Christ are willing to have their picture or video taken, the book and document ary 'The Rabbi Who Found Messiah' is a powerful tool in helping them find salvation in Yeshua," said Porat.

Porat, who works with the Messiah of Israel Ministries to tell Jews about the Messiah Jesus, has been using the stunnin g revelations of "The Rabbi" as an evangelism tool.

He was captivated by Gallups' story of Israel's most venerated spiritual leader, Rabbi Yitzhak Kaduri, who died at the ag e of 108 in 2006 and left behind a letter (with instructions to open it one year after his death) proclaiming the name of the Messiah was Yehoshua â€" the formal name for Yeshua, or Jesus in Greek. Porat said he then received a revelation fro m the Holy Spirit that he was to minister to non-Christians and help lead them to salvation.

Yes Julius, I think you may be a bit late in understanding what God has been doing in Israel, but I'm glad you are now se eing this.

Maybe you missed this in one of my posts, but I made the point that there are over 20,000 Jewish believers in Israel tod ay and over 150 Messianic (Jewish) congregations. God is in the process of turning the hearts of His ancient people bac k to Him in these days, in the land of their forefathers.

Unfortunately the main persecution that these believers get is from the Orthodox Jews, which is why I am amazed that y ou reference these people to support you anti-Israel stance. They are the spiritual descendants of the Pharisees and mo dern Rabbinic Judaism is the continuation of Pharisaic theology. It is generally the non religious/secular Jews that are m ost often the ones who are most open to the gospel, just like in the days of Jesus, it was the common Jews that heard hi m gladly!

That said, it is good to hear about this old Rabbi, even if he is the exception to the rule. God still has His Saul - Paul con versions!

Google the story of Zvi Kalisher, who was a Polish Jew that escaped the Holocaust as a young boy on his own and then made his way to Israel after the war. There he came to faith in Jesus and devoted his life to serving the Lord in Israel pre aching the gospel to many including the orthodox Jews. He has in the last year or so gone home to His Lord, but his chil dren continue in the ministry of the Lord. His biography (Zvi) is one of the most captivating books I have read.

Dave-

Isn't it a gross misrepresentation to say that Julius has an "anti-Israel" stance? I haven't gotten that at all from any of hi s posts.

That sounds very much like a Christian being accused of "hating gays" because they do not support gay marriage. It is a sly tactic and we should not resort to such rhetoric.

Re: - posted by Heydave (), on: 2015/10/30 8:18

TMK, No it is not a misrepresentation or slur at all. It is what Julius stated clearly. He said he does not agree with the modern state of Israel coming into being, or that anyone should support it. I did not say he was anti-Jew, that is a different thing.

Re: - posted by TMK (), on: 2015/10/30 8:29

I guess I'm confused- I thought the state of Israel already exists.

Re: , on: 2015/10/30 12:04

Heydave, This Julius uses religion as a covering for his anti-semitic and hatred for the Jewish nation and race, This article he posted is to cover his/her tracks.

Re: , on: 2015/10/30 12:22

TMK, you are right. I am not anti State of Israel. I shouldn't be confused with Hitler.

And I was specifically asking about the Yitzhak Kaduri, by the way which I think is kind of awesome.

I also mentioned a long time ago, probably in another thread that I lived and worked on a Kibbutz in Israel. It was a Kibbutz with emigrant Jews from Russia. I know there are many Messianic Synagogues in Israel. When I was there, there were 25. I am very glad to hear there are 150 today. In fact I am thrilled that Jews are coming to faith in Messiah/Christ.

My issue is not with Jews, be they religious Jews or secular Jews. My issue and the one we are talking about is with Christians interpreting the scriptures in such a way that it would make them willing to slam other Christians, associating them with despicable people who have brought harm on the Jews. And they are also willing to protect their doctrine to the point where they will support a military state that will do anything it deems necessary to "exist". If as a Christian one believes that the land of Israel has no Biblical significance, then you are classified as anti-Israel. What does have significance are Jewish people not land. Jewish people have significance in the Lord's heart and they can inherit the "land", the "better country", in Christ. This is what has been promised to them and the NT scriptures are clear about this. There are some teachers, in fact a growing number, who demonstrate that they are ignorant of this mystery that is in Christ - there is one new man, and they still teach that the church and Israel are two separate peoples of God each belonging to a different and unique covenant and dispensation.

I believe the "waters" over there are very murky and that Christians should stay above the political and military fray (and theologies that support politics/military) of not only Israel but any country in this world, because we have been called out of this world. We are "called out" ones, the Church which is made up of all men, and we are no longer Jew or Gentile, but one "new man". Christians that have taken sides with physical Israel have closed the door to speaking with Muslims.

Here is the central questions:

Are God's covenants with Israel valid any longer since the coming of the Messiah? Or are all the promises to Abraham fulfilled in Jesus Christ?

What theological significance is there today in being Jewish? Is God still keeping a covenant with unbelieving Jewish people and a secular nation-state?

I am not saying the cultural heritage of being Jewish should be destroyed any more than I would say the Ukrainian or Mexican heritage/culture of a Gentile Christian should be destroyed. We are all free in Christ to self-identify with any culture as long as we all remember and give precedence to our real identity in this world, and that we are all one in Christ and heavenly citizens, first and foremost. (Paul self-identified with being a Roman citizen when necessary).

What is happening today, is "Judaistic Christianity". Christianity is being Judaized and being brought back under the OT. This is not what the Lord gave Paul to teach.

Clearly, this is not just a disagreement within Christianity. This is also a dividing issue in Messianic Jewish congregations. Not all Messianic Jewish Christians have the same agreement regarding dispensational theology.

The mystery which Paul did not want them to be ignorant of is the mystery of God's election through faith in Jesus Christ - the mystery by which all nations would be blessed through Abraham's seed (Christ), the mystery of how many g entiles would be included among God's holy, chosen covenant nation and the mystery also by which many proud, self-righteous, unbelieving Jews would be cut off while they persist in their unbelief.

Though, I have no problem with unbelieving Jews having an earthly homeland, I think it is only serving to keep their hearts hardened as they become more puffed up in thinking they are the "Chosen People" and that God is behind them in whatever they need to do to "survive". What the UN and Britain did, obviously God allowed. But, please don't place responsibility on Jesus Christ for all the bloodshed over there.

Israel wanted a King and persisted in wanting a King, and God finally relented and told Samuel to give them what they want, but tell them it is not going to go well for them. Israel's sin in rejecting God brought on the oppression while under King Saul. They cannot blame God.

Peter in speaking to the Church (Jew and Gentile, alike): But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should shew forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvelous light: (1Pe_2:9)

I never see Paul or Peter or any of the Apostles talking about the Jewish people being brought back to a land mass on earth. They talk about them being brought to Christ and only Christ. They talk about "Jerusalem above", "a city whose maker is God", "a better country", "we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

Heb 11:10 For he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God.

Christians should stay above the fray of all theological issues that are not Christocentric.

Non-Christocentric theologies, seem to manifest into political and military ideologies.

Why doesn't the Christian Church talk about Palestinian atrocities? They don't because they think God is the author of the secular state of Israel and they believe it is vital to their end-time prophetic view.

Do I stand with those who shed blood on the Israel side? No

Do I stand with those who shed blood on the Palestinian side? No

I am an ambassador of Christ.

Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. No man that warreth ENTANGLETH HIMSELF WITH THE AFFAIRS OF THIS LIFE; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier. (2Ti 2:3-4)

Are these people "Pharisees", too?

<https://youtu.be/RzJkBxQC4Tg>

We should not make it so easy for the Hal Lindsey crowd to label people.

We should challenge long held "slogans" that the dispensational crowd has brainwashed the church with, such as, "There will never be peace until Jesus comes". Yes, we know there will never be ultimate peace until this world no longer exists. But, Jesus can come now, into people's hearts, so shouldn't we be about the Master's business in preaching the Good News rather than supporting one world government over another?

I see more clearly than ever that many Christians are being deluded into taking political sides and delusion this time is that Christianity demands it.

And one last time (please).

I am Pro-Israeli

I am Pro-Palestinian

I am Pro-Jesus

Heydave, This Julius21 uses religion as a covering for his anti-semitic and hatred for the Jewish nation and race, This article he posted is to cover his/her tracks.

Revenue, I love you.

Re: , on: 2015/10/30 12:25

fake and a fraud you are

Re: TMK - posted by Heydave (), on: 2015/10/30 12:28

TMK,

Here is a quote from Julius on a very recent post.

"Sometimes I wonder if the UN and Britain did a grave disservice to the Jewish people and should have left well enough alone and let the Jewish people remain as "strangers and pilgrims" in this world. I wonder if dispersed amongst all the countries as they were, if many more of them would have found the Lord."

If that is not Anti-Israel, I don't know what is. It is also very naïve at best. Anti-Semitism is growing in most of the world and Julius thinks they would be better having stayed where they were! And that in the light of coming out of the Holocaust.

And there were much worse statements than these he made about Israel.

Re: , on: 2015/10/30 12:48

I stand by that quote, Dave.

It is very possible that dispensationalists are Anti-Israel without even knowing it because dispensationalism has "crippled the church" in proclaiming the Gospel by supporting a political/military machine.

"Many evangelical dispensationalists have committed themselves to a course for Israel, that, by their own admission will lead directly to a holocaust indescribably more savage and widespread than any vision of carnage that could have generated in Adolf Hitler's criminal mind. (Gary DeMar & Peter J Leithart The Legacy of Hatred Continues, A Response to Hal Lindsey's The Road to Holocaust"

You can lump people into being Anti-nation-state-Israel, but I am pro-people, pro-Jewish, pro-Palestinian, Pro-Jesus.

Hal Lindsey is quite offensive in The Road to Holocaust (New York: Bantam 1989) to suggest that those who oppose a dispensationalist reading of scripture are anti-Semitic and you are doing the same thing.

Re: , on: 2015/10/30 14:18

The religious and demonic hatred of Jews and Israel will continue until Jesus returns.
This place has plenty of them.

Wow! guys, why do all this here in an open forum, your attitudes here do not reflect the attitudes of the majority of members. We all have our opinions, but when our opinions get this heated, does our opinions really matter anymore? Why can this be done through personal emails, the whole world is reading here.

Re: , on: 2015/10/30 14:32

Mr BillPro

They started it here with their anti Israel, anti Jewish propaganda posts. They posted numerous times using a religious veneer to cover their obvious hatred for all things Jewish, The Bible is clear on God's eternal plan for the Jews and yet these posts are designed to malign , marginalize and obliterate God's plan for his chosen people, They hate them publicly and should be confronted publicly as well

I didn't say this, God did.

Hi MrBillPro,

I will gladly step back. I am being accused by Revenue left and right now of hating Jewish people. There is no way to combat his rhetoric.

Re: - posted by MrBillPro (), on: 2015/10/30 14:46

Julius, I'm not a moderator here, just a concerned member, that has seen a lot of this in the past. It did quiet down here for a while "Praise Jesus" this is why I have been more active. I love this place! you won't find another place like this. These posts on this thread are not a fair representation of this forum or its members, and every member here suffers when others visit here and reads this. I just speak in Love, for my Love for SI, and its brothers and sisters. God Bless!

Re: , on: 2015/10/30 14:50

Yeah, Bill. I took no offense. I don't take any offense at Revenue's comments, either. But, if my stepping back can quiet Revenue down, then I am happy to. Even, HeyDave has not approached Revenue's level of characterization and everyone else has been good, too.

Re: , on: 2015/10/30 17:01

HeyDave,

Going way, way back to the beginning of this post.

I know the Lord is moving within Religious Judaism and also in secular society in Israel. The reason that I brought up the name of the Rabbi Yitzhak Kaduri and the fact that religious Jews in Israel are coming to the Lord, is that I wonder what their eschatological view of Israel and nationalism is after they get saved? I know they don't support nationalism before salvation, but do you know (or anyone else) if the saved religious Jews support Israeli nationalism as part of their faith in Christ now or are they divided on that subject? Also, are they joining existing Messianic Synagogues where most of them do believe in Western Christianity's end time view or are they staying by themselves? Do religious Jews who have co me to Christ believe God made a covenant with Abraham promising him an earthly posterity the Nation of Israel, and a heavenly posterity – the Church of Christ?

Re: , on: 2015/10/30 17:16

Is this anti Jewish hatred ever going to end ?

Re: - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2015/10/30 19:33

Carmine and others,

On SermonIndex we firstly want to ensure that even if we disagree with another brother and sister that we do not ever name-call or accuse each other verbally in a wrong way not in the spirit of Christ.

Secondly we are absolutely in favour of national Israel as God has an end-time plan for the jewish "people group" praise God. We also believe that jewish people must be evangelized just as other gentiles. The nation of Israel is fulfilled prophecy and the hatred, accusatory of jewish people is something that we do not agree with in the slightest.

Worldwide persecution will come to Christians and Jewish people in the end times. And a great influx of jewish people will become believers in Messiah (christ).

We ask that saints stay away from arguing against each other and serve each other as they would serve Christ. It is better to love a brother then always try and correct one another. We all see in a mirror dimly until that perfect day.
