Has anyone heard from Krispy and his wife? How are they doing? Thanks.

Funny, I had been wondering the very same thing.

I do hope someone here is still in contact with him.

God bless you, sister.

I used to hear from him occasionally. Since reading your question I emailed him and am now awaiting a reply. Whatever I hear or don't hear I will come back and tell you.

I heard from Krispy today. Here are the messages he sent:

"Here I am! yes, we are doing quite well. We are back living in South Carolina, just a little south of where we used to live in North Carolina. God has blessed with a good job, and we are getting back on our feet. My wife is doing excellent after battling breast cancer a year or so ago. Tell everyone I said hello."

And:

"After I responded to your email I went over to SI and saw that people actually remember me... wow. SI was a good seasonal thing spiritually. I've changed a lot since I left the forum. One thing I don't do anymore is debate via written word. People read thru their own filters, and I was guilty of it too. There were a lot of arguments I got into in those days that probably would not have been heated at all if we were all talking face to face. Know what I mean? I just don't do that anymore. My yes is yes, and my no is no... and that's about it. Anyway, tell everyone I said hello... and you can share both of these emails with them if you like."

And:

"I will say this! I miss certain people on SI....if anyone wants to send me an email now and then they are welcome to. Don't put it out there publicly, but share with whoever in a private message. Thanks. Krispy"

There you have it.
