

Miracles that follow the plow :: Pray for my husband

Pray for my husband - posted by Mekdi (), on: 2005/5/18 2:15

Pray for my husband, so far he was unbeliever but this week he disclosed to me that he will straightly go to church every Sunday morning. This comes out of a blue I didn't say nothing of this sort for him. To my surprise, the church he chooses is not the one I am attending. He chose a church pastored by a great man of God who stood steadfast at the cost of his life during the communist regime of my country. Pray that his decision may be materialized without any hindrance! Please saints stand with me in prayer for this is a decisive hour! The way was rough and long but I just thank my Father who brought me to this victory!

Your Sis Mekdi

Re: Pray for my husband - posted by crsschk (), on: 2005/5/18 8:38

Dear Mek,

Knowing of this prior and keeping him before the Lord...ah...this is tremendous news, time to press in even more sister! Keep us posted...

Rom 15:5 Now the God of patience and of comfort grant you to be of the same mind one with another according to Christ Jesus:

Re: Pray for my husband - posted by RobertW (), on: 2005/5/18 8:51

Quote:
-----Pray for my husband, so far he was unbeliever but this week he disclosed to me that he will straightly go to church every Sunday morning.

Will be in agreement in prayer!

Re: Pray for my husband - posted by Spitfire, on: 2005/5/19 6:03

Hi Mekdi. Praying for your needs, dear Friend. Love, Dian.

Re: - posted by Mekdi (), on: 2005/5/19 9:02

God bless you all for your saintly concern! Our God is faithful and more miracles will follow!

Yours in Christ

Mekdi