Great vid!

Explains very well what is meant by "Last Days". I really like that he used a lot of scripture.

Another great point he makes.

The New Covenant age has no "last days". It is an eternal covenant.

Heb 13:20 Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the EVERLASTING COVENANT, Why look forward to something we already have?

"An eternal covenant has no "last days." We are living in the first days of the eternal age. Missing these important time statements causes people to misapply, by nearly 2000 years, many verses in the Bible."

The old heavens and earth of Judaism have passed away, and we now live in the New Heavens and New Earth of the New Covenant.

Here is the transcript for those who like to read.

For those that may not know, That is an implied wholly preterist view. You can believe that if you want, but it's really just partly true (& I believe other parts of what you said were not true). There is a "Great & Terrible Day of the Lord" too, or "That Day". That has not happened (unless you buy into the view that when the apostle Peter said "the end of all things is near" he meant 70 AD, & unless you think Jesus already came in 70 AD & is never "coming again"). Again, we are & have been technically in "The Last Days" since Christ ascended, but there is also an "end of the end". A 70 year old man is in his "last days" in his 70's, but is in "the last hour" at 79 if he dies at 80. These can be semantics, but the view that it's ALL already all been done/fulfilled COMPLETELY is called "Preterism". It is one eschatological view, but I personally don't happen to think it's accurate. I didn't even check the link, but what Julius expressed is a classic preterist paradigm.

I am looking forward to what we don't have. An eternal paradigm that knows "if we hope but in this life (what we already have), we are above all men to be pitied." I am looking forward to the day when He wipes away every tear from every eye, where there's no more death, no more sickness, sorrow, or pain. In the age to come.

Re: , on: 2016/3/25 22:16

This is unbiblical propoganda and certainly the Holy Spirit is NOT PRESENT WHATSOEVER in this mans scripture twisting.

Re: , on: 2016/3/25 22:28

"Julius" more of your wicked apostate "replacement theology" demon spew.

You and the that hell bound brood will suddenly realize how wrong you are, the ONLY thing, you all shall hear is "I NEVER KNEW YOU".

repent from your self opinionated WICKEDNESS.

Re: , on: 2016/3/25 22:36

Guys/Gals,

Let's be nice, kind, gentle, humble & loving. I'm not attacking anyone for their view. And I'm not scared to say I think the view is totally wrong either. But I don't think it's theologically "malicious" always either. The arguments & use of verses can be somewhat convincing if you follow the rabbit hole with tunnel vision. I think it's wrong. But I don't think you mean harm or malice brother (Julius). I know & love people who lean towards Amil/Replacement theology/Supercessionism. I don't think they're vile or wicked. Just wrong. Lol. ðŸ˜Š

Re: , on: 2016/3/25 22:42

It is interesting that Luther held that view & said such wicked, racist, murderous things, that I can't help but question his actual conversion/salvation. It's also interesting that if "Israel doesn't mean anything at all anymore whatsoever" that Sat an apparently didn't get the memo

Re: , on: 2016/3/25 23:12

I was going to say something, but there is really no point.

I will just say, I don't have to believe your eschatological views since I don't see them in the Word of God and the Lord has not confirmed them in my heart and I will also add that the nation state of Israel has every right to protect and defend themselves by whatever means they feel necessary.

Other than that, I will not defend myself against such spurious, anger and hate filled accusations.

Thanks, Jeff.

The other two unfortunately, are constantly drinking from a poison well.

Re: , on: 2016/3/26 0:34

I'll also say this: I've never met ANYONE who came to a full replacement theology/Supercessionism/Amillennialism position without specifically reading the teachings of a preterist. Ever. Not one. I be willing to guarantee you no one comes to all those positions entirely (and Preterism as a whole) without following the teaching/leading of one shaping the scriptures in such a way. Also true of the "Secret Pre-Trib Rapture" crowd. Never get there with just the Word. People arrive there after reading those who frame it as a paradigm a certain way. That begs the question: is that God's way? Word of God & Spirit of God need a preterist (or Pre-Trib) teacher to "discover the truth in scripture" on something this big? Hhhmm... I have a hard time believing that one really. Just being honest

Re: , on: 2016/3/26 0:56

Well you met your first one, Jeff. I have never read the teachings of a Preterist.

You really can get there by just reading and studying the Bible. You just have to believe what it says and stop reading into it.

I certainly agree with what you say about the "Secret Pre-Trib Rapture" crowd.

Ask yourself why Paul and Peter and John and James did not talk about your eschatological position? Why didn't they go on and on about physical Israel? Because they knew the last days of physical Israel and the O.T had come.

You can't find them talking about physical Israel's future plan so you draw from the O.T and make up your own (actually you adopted someone else's version).

Your position just did not exist in Peter, Paul, John and James' mind and that is why they did not write about it. They wrote about a spiritual King and a spiritual kingdom and both Jew and Gentile becoming brothers and dwelling together in heavenly Jerusalem. The house made by God and not men.

The only plan any Jew or Gentile can hope to have is found in Christ in the current dispensation we are in. There is not going to be another chance. This is New Testament and you do the spiritual prophecies of the OT damage by giving them a physical future fulfillment. These prophecies are about a spiritual kingdom not a physical kingdom.

Did I call you names? Did I slander you or send hate filled venom your way? No! Why? Because we are brothers in Christ and I am not offended or threatened by your eschatological views, I simply don't agree with them. And my beliefs do no harm to any men.

Our common bond in Christ and love for Him is much stronger than my opinions on anything else. I hope you feel the same.

It would be nice to have a conversation without the bouncers dropping by.

Re: , on: 2016/3/26 0:56

Double post.

Re: , on: 2016/3/26 1:15

No slander & no hate. But I'm pretty sure you've posted quotes from famous preterists more than once. I just don't chuck all the OT promises that refer to the Day of The Lord (still future) so I also don't chuck the others that are still future. And I don't Chuck Romans 11 (or explain it away), in Acts when the apostles asked Jesus when He would restore the kingdom He didn't correct their misunderstanding of covenants but just said, "the dates & times my father set are not for you to know" (isn't that weird he left them ignorant and off track without correcting them by your view?), & I don't Chuck Revelation, Peter's writings, John's, etc. And if I got it all wrong, I'm in good company cause men like Spurgeon, George Mueller, JC Ryle, Robert Murray Mccheyne, etc., etc., etc. all did too. And like I said, Satan also didn't get your memo & the otherwise unexplainable demonic hatred of the Jews is tangible & unexplainable by normal logic, as I'd how they have existed, come back to Israel, & how "all the nations of the earth" are more and more coming against Israel & her enemies surround her, but yet that all means nothing?

Anyways, still have love for you, but have a hard time believing you came to a preterist position without reading certain commentators & bending to their view. Not saying your lying, just saying sometimes people forget exactly the events miles back that put them as far on a road as they are now on.

God Bless,
Jeff

Re: , on: 2016/3/26 2:16

It's not that far back, Jeff. I only came to my position about a few years ago. I was caught in the fog of dispensationalism for a very long time. Strangely as it might seem my view is more and more cemented when the enforcers (Neil, revenue and notdarkyet) show up. You have to admit they are not the best advertisement for your cause.

Well, I can just say be happy with what you believe and I respect your position because it doesn't come with any hate or anger or lies. If it did, I wouldn't be able to take you seriously, but I do take you seriously and appreciate your heart.

Peace, brother. No sense in arguing.

oh Julius, on: 2016/3/26 8:28

how far you are off the mark, and if this seems like an "ad hominem" attack, it's really not, because I don't even think you are in control of our keyboard, in that you are being used by the accuser.....BUT, if you are in control of your keyboard, that's even WORSE, because the spew of "replacement theology" is foundational to 1700 years plus of the "church", which includes the hellish institution of Rome, that murdered, raped, forced "conversions of the tribe of my flesh, the Jews..... up until this very day, with men like yourself, so transparent with your disdain of the modern state of Israel, or as you would say "Zionism".

You stream two kinds of postings, one is, this ad joinder, that we all eschew "the world" and "focus on Jesus", which is right and good, but then the mask comes off, and you engage in the most earthly kind of vociferous "political" postings, including joining in on that "political correctness" thread, posts about "spoiled brats" and how "Donald Trump" is not "politically correct", and then to conclude all this, you trumpet, "i'm voting for Jesus", even writing that, is just profane.

what most saints don't realize is that you are an ardent "zerohedger"...in itself the website zerohedge dot com is not a "bad website", its probably the most important financial alt media website, in that they break statistical data, and financial market stories the corporate owned mass media wont touch, because it will show both the fragility and the machinations inherent in the "global economy", as well as geopolitical lies foisted upon the American body politic. Bud, I have been trading since I was 22, I was in the trading pits with a seat, when I was 24, so I know ALL about whats happening today, I can read M2 and M3 numbers from the Fed, I see the charts of MV, monetary velocity, I can see the charts of the BDI, Baltic dry index, I know why the Sa-udi and other UAE states overpumped, and dumped crude oil, I read about how the various US/EU central banks want to go cashless, how and why they artificially suppress the electronic "board price" of precious metals in NY and London, I know all about the why's and how's of "bail-ins" (saints, that where the banks will just take a percentage of our bank accounts, to prop up the "the too big to fail" banks)...or how the "NIRP" might be coming to a bank near you, "NIRP" is NEGATIVE interest rates on deposits, meaning a bank will CHARGE YOU, for the "privilege" of keeping money in it, so as to discourage savings, I know who's behind "Daesh", that's what is what's referred to "ISIS", I know the why's of the tragedy of Syria and who is behind it all, same thing with the flames in Kiev, in Maidan Square, when two neo-Nazi groups, "Svoboda" and "Right Sector" lit the place aflame, etc etc etc.

But saints, the real hell, the real heart rending thing is to GO BELOW the articles, and read the comments of the "ZH'ers" as they call themselves, the raw and naked HATRED of the Jews, and of Israel, or just Zionists, as they call them is so intense, one can discern the demonic push behind it all...one poster, just as an example refers to the Jews, as the "jooo ooooo", and Julius, you all over the website, and if you deny it, you are a liar, because I've read you quoting it HERE!

and as far as you saying I just "showed up"? that's a lie, I been here with Greg almost from the beginning in 2002, innocently and fervently seeking REVIVAL in all its forms, personal, county, national, global, and brother Greg and I, among some other saints ACTUALLY know each other, we "grew up" together IN MESSIAH Jesus, and these brothers and sisters I love with all my heart and soul, I get filled with JOY inexpressible to hear Greg's voice on the phone, when we edify and love each other with a pure and Godly love, as well as other saints, name's I wont mention so as NOT to focus your ill intent upon them.

and if you labor under the delusion that I am some "enforcer", or some cowardly keyboard cowboy, i'm sure they would testify, I would have no problem, none whatsoever, getting up in your face, and telling you mano o mano what I just wrote :

REPENT FROM YOUR WICKEDNESS!

Re: , on: 2016/3/26 9:51

Ok Julius. God Bless. But hey brother, do me a favor please: don't equate a non-Amil/non-replacement theology/non-Supercessionist with a "dispensationalist". That misnomer gets old really. Dispensationalism was born out of that (I believe false & demonic) vision of those two young girls, pushed by that charismatic guy that ended up being defrocked for heresy & other moral issues, & then bought into & marketed to the world by John Darby. The quintessential doctrine of Dispensationalism is a secret pre-trib rapture, not that "all Israel will be saved". It gets old being lumped in with that by the preterists/Amils/supercessionists. It's not used accurately & often feels like a straw man, or at least a radical terminology grouping for the sake of winning the argument. Not saying you are doing that intentionally, but just FYI.

Re: - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2016/3/26 10:05

Saints,

We ask that brethren not post usually other sermons media on the forums as other strange viewpoints can be shared, there are 30,000 different denominations and weird doctrines out in Christendom. Personally we would rather focus on following the Lord as His disciples. Obeying the word (James 1:22).

We also ask that saints do not personally attack each other, we are all "one body".
