Sermon Indexers,

Would value some feedback. I have a friend who is a Catholic and was recently widowed. We have been praying for and with her and were pleased to hear that she went to a church recently.

The church she recently attended is a Brethren in Christ church in the Toronto area. I did a bit of research on the denomination, but wanted to ask if anybody on this forum has any insight into the denomination.

Thanks in advance for your thoughts/advice...

Hi there ,this group seems to be a sound Mennonite type of denomination ,probably Stricter then some conservative churches , but should be ok , she could do a lot worse for her first evengelical church ,,the christaphelian cult also go by that name , just make sure it's not that group ,it doesn't sound like it ,tho

God bless

I will withhold my own personal opinions since people are different in every fellowship. If she stays in the Word and gets baptized in the Holy Spirit the Lord will tell her if she should stay or not.
