

Miracles that follow the plow :: My miracle this morning.*My miracle this morning., on: 2016/9/15 15:59

This morning I was having a very unpleasant procedure. I was getting shots in my spine, in the neck and lower back. Before the procedure the doctor asked if he could pray with me if I did not mind, he said he prays for all of his patients and went on to acknowledge the Lord as the great healer. When I was laying face down there was music in the background on the radio. It was some noisy heavy rock stuff. The doc made the comment that it was not very relaxing music. So someone turned it off and then, all of a sudden a woman, one of his nurses began to sing a hymn. I am lying there, knowing many people were praying for me, and here was this woman singing a hymn. The doctor said to her " you have worked for me for 11 years and have never sung for me before." When the procedure was over I got up and asked who had sung. The nurse came over and identified herself. I hugged her and told her that many people had been praying for me and that she had blessed me by singing. In the other room, another nurse was watching over me and we began to talk. She had had a troubled life and she shared with me some of the details. I shared with her a little of my own troubled background and shared with her how I had found healing and wholeness with the Lord. So, a day that was unpleasant physically was a day that the Lord could use, first to reassure me and then to reach out to the nurse. Thank you Jesus.....bro Frank

Re: My miracle this morning. - posted by TMK (), on: 2016/9/15 16:00

A+++++

Re: Wow! - posted by docs (), on: 2016/9/15 16:02

Like in WOW!!!

Re: - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2016/9/15 16:05

What a wonderful God we serve that cares and knows our needs. Praise God for this testimony.

Re: - posted by dfella (), on: 2016/9/15 17:53

Praise the Lord Frank, a true blessing and miracle indeed! Praising God with you.

BD

Re: - posted by dohzman (), on: 2016/9/15 19:46

Your testimony brought me to tears. What a wonderful Saviour we serve. God Bless Bro DMiller

Re: My miracle this morning. - posted by browny, on: 2016/9/19 23:36

Thank you brother Frank for sharing your experience on SI.
This is uplifting and for me personally a blessing to read.
And a good way to start this new day.....

Stay strong in the Lord, Shalom, browny.

Re: My miracle this morning. - posted by Theophila (), on: 2016/9/20 5:52

The Lord is good, isn't He?

Thank you, brother, for sharing. Very encouraging.

Miracles that follow the plow :: My miracle this morning.

Re: My miracle this morning. - posted by AbideinHim (), on: 2016/9/20 7:39

Thanks for sharing brother Frank!
We pray that you would have a speedy recovery!

Praise God for the praying doctor and singing nurse!

Re: - posted by StirltUp (), on: 2016/9/20 8:30

Beautiful!!

Re: My miracle this morning. - posted by Lysa (), on: 2016/9/20 8:59

Quote:

-----by appolus

So, a day that was unpleasant physically was a day that the Lord could use, first to reassure me and then to reach out to the nurse. Thank you Jesus

I love how the Lord works "in mysterious ways; His wonders to perform" (hymn)!!!

God bless you Frank!
Lisa

Re: - posted by MrBillPro (), on: 2016/9/20 9:21

Amen Lisa! Brother Frank, thanks for sharing this, these testimonies continue to reassure all of us, that God is still in control of everything.

Re: , on: 2016/9/20 15:38

I am so glad that this testimony has encouraged the saints. I could share some spectacular things the Lord has done in my life over the years yet I have found that the thing that touches the saints the most is the way the Lord is found and moves in our everyday lives.....bro Frank

Re: My miracle this morning. - posted by narrowpath, on: 2016/9/20 15:45 wonderful testimony!