

News and Current Events :: Archbishop of Nigeria condemns 'sin' of gay sex

Archbishop of Nigeria condemns 'sin' of gay sex - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2017/6/16 5:30

The Christian Church is facing a similar struggle for the integrity of the gospel in this era, he continues, and refers to the decision by the Scottish Episcopal Church to change its doctrine to allow gay marriage. This follows similar decisions by the Episcopal Church of the US and the Anglican Church of Canada.

Okoh says: 'This attempt to redefine marriage is not a secondary issue about which we can agree to disagree and continue to walk together. It means that Jesus was mistaken when he taught that marriage was between a man and a woman and that sex outside of such a marriage is a sin. It is a radical rejection of the authority of Scripture. The Church claims that it can consecrate behaviour that God's Word clearly teaches to be sinful. According to the Bible, this behaviour, without repentance, separates those who practice it from his kingdom.'

Okoh compares the consecration of Andy Lines as ...

read more: <http://bit.ly/2s8iZOn>

Re: Archbishop of Nigeria condemns 'sin' of gay sex - posted by AbideinHim (), on: 2017/6/16 15:49

Okoh says: 'This attempt to redefine marriage is not a secondary issue about which we can agree to disagree and continue to walk together. It means that Jesus was mistaken when he taught that marriage was between a man and a woman and that sex outside of such a marriage is a sin. It is a radical rejection of the authority of Scripture. The Church claims that it can consecrate behaviour that God's Word clearly teaches to be sinful. According to the Bible, this behaviour, without repentance, separates those who practice it from his kingdom.'

Amen! Wake up compromising pastors and theologians!