

SermonIndex Announcements :: Font Size Change on SermonIndex

Font Size Change on SermonIndex - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2019/3/4 22:39

Saints,

It has been a long time to try and do this but we have changed the font site-wide almost to a larger font that will make it easier for reading and viewing especially on mobile devices.

Do give feedback on this.

Re: Font Size Change on SermonIndex - posted by ccchhrrriiiss (), on: 2019/3/5 9:53

Hi Greg,

I don't know if this helps, but I can hardly tell the difference. I suppose that it is a good thing because it seems just as readable as always.

Thank you for all of the work that you pour in this site. May the Lord continue to bless you, keep you, shine upon you, grace you and give you peace!

Re: - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2019/3/5 10:36

Thank you brother, there will be a noticeable small change on desktop computers (for some).

We are considering to do an entire site re-vamp to a totally new CMS and design, with new functions etc. More news will be coming about that, it is a HUGE job but will be worth it in the end if we can accomplish it.

Re: Font Size Change on SermonIndex - posted by dougr777 (), on: 2019/3/5 11:39

It looks great brother Greg, I can't remember the font size before, but it is now larger and easier to read.

Re: - posted by davidkeel (), on: 2019/3/5 16:29

On my PC the size appears the same as it was previously on the Firefox and Google Chrome browsers. But the Opera browser is showing it quite a bit larger.

I use windows 7, 64 bit if it makes any difference.

Re: - posted by docs (), on: 2019/3/5 19:55

The font size change is okay with me.

I've always missed the ability to highlight things in bold and italics. What is the chance of bringing that back?