Our Responsibility As Leaders:

â€œThe problems within the church today rest on us. If only we would realize the great responsibility we have. If we are to preach a Gospel that transforms, we ourselves must first be transformed. If we expect others to be consecrated, we must first be fully consecrated. If we are not faithful, God will look to the next generation, rather than to us, to fulfill His need.

We look at Christian service as doing, ministering, becoming involved in a local church, and these are all important, but God's purpose for His Church is to make us something. We are called to be more like Him, being conformed to the image and likeness of Christ.

God is raising up houses of prayer whose first priority is to minister to the Lord.
