Hi, I was going to ask for prayer for some current issues in regard to lust and demonic attacks. Just recently my wife, friend and new girl at our church started hanging out together and we began a group text message together all of us. I found myself struggling with lust towards this girl so I blocked her number even though we didn't contact each other outside the group message and at church. It is an inward struggle In having that this girl has no idea about. I was trying to be friend and her as a brother in Christ but it seems I can't seem to do that without struggling with extreme temptations even in group settings with my wife their. My wife gets along with her very well and my best friend. I really have tried to focus on good things. Anyways, I found myself hoping to see her text messages or contacting my wife. It was like I have become obsessive without planning or intending to do so. I think there is some extreme spiritual warfare going on to get me to sin. Please pray for me I don't want to sin and I just want to walk rightly and not think wrongly in these situations.

I will pray for you John.

Know that there is victory over these things. Don't listen to the devil; he will try to persuade you that you can't win, and that you might as well live with it. Satan is a liar. Jesus came to "free His people from their sins." (Matthew 1:21) No matter how impossible the situation seems, or how many times you fail, keep coming to Jesus to cleanse you with His precious blood. I promise you will have victory; I have proven it in this area in my own life.

I just know that there's bondage in my life still are strongholds that I've been trying to walk in the truth over the last few years and I found some victory but it seems like it is come back and come back and like right now I just don't have the power to overcome it and I know all the power comes from the Lord but I'm trying to stand with all the weapons I have and it's still a huge struggle
