

Miracles that follow the plow :: Very URGENT - prayer needed

Very URGENT - prayer needed - posted by docs (), on: 2023/3/19 22:36

Could you good folks who are inclined take just a few minutes and pray? A dear lady in our church was in an accident after church today and had to be airlifted to Fargo for surgery. The situation is very critical and they are still working to stabilize her. The fervent prayers of the righteous have strength. I get a frog in my throat as they say when I think of the situation. I know her and her hubby pretty close as many do.

It's possible I put this in the wrong section of the forum. If so, please forgive me.

Thank you.

Re: Very URGENT - posted by JFW (), on: 2023/3/20 6:47

Yes brother ðŸ™•ðŸ•»
Keep us updated pleaseðŸ~†

Re: - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2023/3/20 7:04

May God touch her and heal her in Jesus Name.

Re: - posted by docs (), on: 2023/3/20 9:01

Still a very critical situation. The doctors were losing hope twice last night but finally got her stabilized. There was internal damage and broken bones etc. Im fighting fear but still trying to pray on her behalf. The Lord is able.

Thanks to you.

Re: - posted by deogloria, on: 2023/3/20 11:29

Praying for her
May she and those around her experience the Lord's presents and may He restore her.

Re: Very URGENT - prayer needed - posted by Lysa (), on: 2023/3/21 13:51

Praying for her, David and her husband and you that your faith remains strong.

Re: - posted by docs (), on: 2023/3/21 23:01

This good lady is hanging tough with the help of the Lord. This accident occurred after church on Sunday when she was headed to lead a grief support group for those who have lost loved ones. Her and her husband lost a young daughter a few years ago and it has been a challenging road for them. She actually testified in church Sunday about how the Lord was giving her more and more victory over the spirit of grief.

The doctors worked until about 4am in the morning to stabilize her the first day and were losing hope a couple of times. She has had internal bleeding to deal with (finally stopped) and has very serious internal injuries. We came together as a church Monday night and prayed for her and we somehow have hope. They fixed a serious wound on her ankle during a surgery yesterday and the doctors said they accomplished all they hoped to during this surgery. She has been squeezing the nurse's hand when asked questions and wiggling her toes on command. Her family is there with her.

I sense some of you have prayed for her and please continue. Things are still very serious and even critical. It is an emotional time for everyone on this end but we have the good Lord as we all know.

Thank you. Blessings.

Re: David - posted by JFW (), on: 2023/3/22 7:57

Thank you for updating us !

When i first prayed it was difficult to â€œget throughâ€ and there seemed to be a blockade of sorts , tho He did say in 3 days a definitive word (answer) would comeâ€ thatâ€™s today ðŸ™•ðŸŸ•» wether from the Lord Himself or from the attending physicians I know not, but I sensed there is indeed a battle going on and will continue to stand with you and all who are continuing to pray, believing a great testimony will come that glorifies Lord Jesus and thereby advances the Kingdom â€•, with Peace and great rejoicing in the Lord, for He is faithful.

Re: - posted by AbideinHim (), on: 2023/3/22 16:53

I believe that it is the will of God to heal our Sister, and we stand in agreement with our brothers and sisters for her healing.

â€œAnd this is the confidence that we have before Him: If we ask anything according to His will, He hears us. And if we know that He hears us in whatever we ask, we know that we already possess what we have asked of Him.â€ (1 John 5:14 15)

Re: - posted by docs (), on: 2023/3/23 2:57

Many of us believe also that is God's will to bring her through this. As for me, I keep seeing her smiling and being among us again and wondering if this is from the Lord or just my wishful thinking. My best friend in the church believes it is the Lord's will for her to survive. When we came together as a congregation Monday night and prayed for her there was hope and optimism in the air. But are just wishing hard in the flesh or are we hearing from the Lord? I guess for me, it's what I see with my eyes in the natural versus receiving and believing what we believe is God's will for her. The promises of God do not depend on circumstances but rather on meeting the conditions for their fulfillment. Therefore, by the inspiration of the Holy Spirit and not my own zeal and might, I choose to believe.

She rested yesterday and last night after her surgery on Tuesday to repair her even more. It's a good sign she was able to go through another surgery after the initial emergency work done on her.

Bless the good Lord above. His wonders never cease. Help us O Lord to believe. Bless anyone on this forum who is undergoing a trial of whatever kind or illness and needs your delivering hand. It's your delight to work on behalf of your saints.

Blessings.

Re: - posted by docs (), on: 2023/3/26 9:10

By way of an update, the sister in the Lord I asked prayer for because of an auto accident that resulted in catastrophic injuries to her has been breathing on her own and communicating a bit with her husband and daughter. Since the initial crisis the first night and efforts to stabilize her, she has had at least three more surgeries and they have all been successful. But she is still a very injured person but the Lord has been very good. Our congregation has rallied and come together which is never a bad thing. She has more very major surgeries ahead of her and we are just going to keep believing. Pray that she continue to be able to breathe on her own. A few more church members have had not so good news regarding their health and problems also so our small flock is in a season of adversity and affliction. It really means something at this point that Christ is always praying for us at the right hand of the Father. Help us O Lord lest we be overcome and bowed low unable to look up again. Whatever you on the forum are going through, I pray for you

Re: How about another round of prayer? - posted by docs (), on: 2023/4/2 2:56

This sister has had about four surgeries since her accident and did very well during and after each of them. She has spoken, knows her name, and has chatted a bit with her family. Everything combined has taken a toll though. Her heart rate began to weaken last night and we are all awaiting word as to how things went. If you are inclined, please lift up another round of prayer for this believing woman and her believing family. Jesus help us now! It means so much right now if you can find even a few minutes to pray.

Re: ðŸ™•ðŸ•» - posted by JFW (), on: 2023/4/2 10:41

Thank you for updating us ðŸ™†

again when praying as you requested this morning, the Holy Spirit confirmed His blessing upon her and, if lâ€™m understanding Him correctly- â€œkeep on guard of despair and do not let it enter in to your minds and heartsâ€• âœ•ï, • Faith is the substance, mercy is the resource or currency which is stocked fresh every morning and all we need do is obtain it <

Heb 4-

In my understanding, we are to worship our way out of any and all troubles and trialsâ€¢. Praise Him for what He has already accomplished and you will find a supply of faith for what you have not yet seen Him do dear brother ðŸ™•ðŸ•»

Re: - posted by docs (), on: 2023/4/14 13:14

Me again. This fine Christian lady who is a member of our local congregation who was in a severe auto accident has been doing pretty well as of late. However, her lab reports from yesterday didn't show good things. She underwent a cat scan this morning and blood flow to her liver, kidneys, and bowels is dissipating and they are failing. The doctors said there is nothing they can do. This crisis is acute at this point so please pray for the situation if you are inclined and can find the time. All is appreciated. Our hearts are being wrenched nearly out of us.

Thank you.

Re: - posted by docs (), on: 2023/4/14 23:52

After a valiant struggle of nearly four weeks since her auto accident, this fine Christian lady went home to be with the Lord this afternoon. The disappointment in her two daughters and husband after nearly four weeks of hope building is surely exceedingly deep even though they are believers. But the Lord and Father of Jesus Christ has us covered. Please pray for this family who have been at her bedside consistently during this time of crisis. This family unexpectedly lost one of its family members about five years ago in a sudden accident (not auto). The day of her accident she testified in church how the Lord had given her victory over the spirit of grief because of their loss. They are fine, upstanding, solid Christians and we are a hurting congregation right now as we grieve with them. Thanks to any who prayed and thought of her. There is not the remotest doubt of where she is right now.

Re: - posted by deogloria, on: 2023/4/15 4:29

Sorry to hear that!

May the peace of God guard your hearts and your minds in Christ Jesus.(from Phil 4:7)

Re: - posted by JFW (), on: 2023/4/15 8:16

Father,

We thank you for your mercy, for your patience, for your faithfulness.

We thank you Lord for everything you accomplished in her and through her and for the testimony you gave her that glorifies your Son, Jesus.

We thank you Lord for the ministry of your Holy Spirit, that through this you draw her family and the whole congregation into a deeper relationship to yourself, turning their eyes to see Jesus high and lifted up, that they are all comforted by the peace and rest of assurance of her present position and condition, for now she has no pain, no tears, but great joy as she is wholly and inseparably with Christ Jesus. May our loss here on earth be the gain of heaven and we ask Father that the joy that she now has might be theirs also, so that they all can rejoice in her finishing her race. That the life she lived be celebrated and not overshadowed by the pain and struggle of her passing ðŸ™•ðŸ•»

Father we thank you for your grace and ask that you fill the vacancy of her absence here with the congregation and especially her family, to be filled with you, your presence Lord that Christ might be magnified in them and through them to the praise of your name.

We love you and worship you and praise you Lord for you are worthy and are faithful even and especially in our griefâœ•ï, •

Father I thank you for David and the faith youâ€™ve given him and the humbleness wherewith he included us in the shared burden of his heart, as well as the family and congregation, may this be pleasing in your sight and profitable in your hand. In Jesus name we thank you for this, Amen .

Re: - posted by TMK (), on: 2023/4/15 13:37

Amen.

Re: - posted by mama27, on: 2023/4/15 19:01

I was praying even though I didn't post to say so. Beautiful prayer Fletcher. Now will change to praying for comfort for all involved. Stand firm in your faith. God has to have a plan in all this....

Re: - posted by ccchhhrrriiss (), on: 2023/4/15 22:51

I hurt for you, this woman's family and the congregation. My wife and I will remember all of you in prayer.

Re: - posted by docs (), on: 2023/4/16 8:50

All of these thoughts and prayers mean more than you can think. This incident has brought back memories to me because of our family losing our saintly believing mother in 1996 to an auto accident. Meanwhile, this is such a delicate and emotional issue for all of us right now. Full of ironies. This good lady had testified in church on Sunday morning how the Lord was helping her get over the final hurdles and heal her of the spirit of grief over the untimely loss of her young daughter about five years ago. After church that morning, she was on her way to lead a grief support group for others who have lost loved ones when the accident occurred. She had progressed enough to be able to lead others. Who knows how God can weave all this together and make it work for the good? Only He knows. I'm about to leave for Sunday school and service and I'm sure church will be different this morning. Our pastor and his wife has known this lady Mary and her husband and family for many many years and were very close in their friendship and their walk in the Lord. God is a good master of everything. I have been singing "Thou Art Worthy" and it has been helping. I've been telling the Lord I'm singing on behalf of the family, whatever that means I don't know but I have been doing it as I am edified also.

Bless you good folks. Come Lord Jesus. Deliver us finally from this evil and accident prone age. All tears will be wiped away eventually. It has not entered into our hearts what God has in store for those who are His own.

Re: - posted by docs (), on: 2023/4/18 5:44

We had a very good service on Sunday. There were tears and hugs and the worship was deeper than usual. This did not turn out the way we expected after almost four weeks but I still don't think the faith and belief we had came from our own souls. There has been a warm, lifting presence during this whole ordeal. Word is coming of how the family gathered around her and spoke to her released her to go and be with her Savior and departed loved ones WHICH IS FAR BETTER. Which is far better is the theme the Holy Spirit set during our service. A wake and final services will be Friday and Saturday.

Thou art worthy O Lord and you are a very very good God and Father. Thank you for your unspeakable gift.