Police believe all four 21 July London bomb suspects are now in custody after armed raids in the capital and Rome. Roads were sealed off in west London as dozens of police, many armed and some in gas masks, surrounded properties .

Two men held in north Kensington were filmed by a witness stripped to the waist after police raided a flat.

Another suspect for the failed Tube and bus bombings has been arrested in Rome. The fourth suspect was detained in Birmingham on Wednesday.

Friday's raids saw armed police surround flats at Peabody Buildings, in Dalgarno Gardens, north Kensington.
