

General Topics :: Mah Jong

Mah Jong - posted by saved_matt (), on: 2005/8/22 8:30

hey i know playing cards are supposed to have something dodgy to do with them does anyone know anything about the chinese game of Mah Jong, is it harmless or is there something deeper in it?

I know it's connected to eastern philosophy, and about harmony etc.. does anyone know anything about it being more sinister?

matt

Re: Mah Jong - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2005/8/22 11:02

The time it can waste is the most sinister part of it brother. We have to 'redeem' the time, for the days are evil.

Re: - posted by letsgetbusy (), on: 2005/8/25 5:27

That seems to be it, brother. What we do with our time is precious. Prayer seems to be underestimated.

Re: - posted by saved_matt (), on: 2005/8/25 6:29

Thanks Greg and thanks again Hal, i didn't mean one player online (time consuming) mah jong by the way, just about half an hour now and then to 'chill'

as for replacing prayer time or Bible study with it that wouldn't have enetered my mind...

dunno maybe I'm making excuses

Re: Prayer - posted by Kadmiel (), on: 2005/8/25 11:14

letsgetbusy wrote:

Quote:

-----What we do with our time is precious. Prayer seems to be underestimated.

Thank you brother for mentioning that. The Lord has been speaking to me a great deal in regards to spending quality and intimate time with Him in prayer with alot of the daily free time i have. The Lord Bless you.