I hate to ask, but I find myself asking for a lot of help lately. I was once very independent and I guess I didn't need God so much.. Well I surrender and am asking for help. I was in an accident and have chronic pain all of the time. Having faith in God and not asking why anymore? Prayer would be greatly appreciated... God Bless you all * Thank you :-)

Lord have mercy on me, if what I am about to say is wrong.

In a recent Dream, the lord showed me that someone who is close to me, was injured in the head. As this sister was sharing her injury with me, I placed my hand on her head and began to pray and speak the word of God. To my surprise water was being released from the palm of my hand, not sweat, but lots of water.

My interpretation is again, the word of God is in you, begin to speak his word in faith it will not return to you back void, but accomplish everything it has been set out to do.

I sent forth healing in the name of Jesus.
May your heart be filled with Joy, Peace, Faith, and Hope.

He is able!

Hi carriejoseph...!

I am praying for you, and I have asked some friends to also pray.

:-)
